LEAHY BACKS ISLAND PLAN

WASHINGTON, March 6.—(UP)—Admiral William D. Leahy, chief of naval operations, told the Senate naval affairs committee today that no enemy would attempt to cross the Pacific if an "impenetrable defense" base were established at Guam, tiny American island possession 1300 miles from Japan.

He believed "it would be wise" to fortify the island, but emphasized that the navy department now seeks only harbor improvements there.

New Navy Drive
Leahy's testimony marked the beginning of a new effort by the navy to obtain $5,000,000 for the harbor developments at Guam. The House eliminated the project from an administration bill for a dozen new air bases and Senate leaders have indicated prospects for restoring it were not bright. Senate leaders redoubled their efforts to expedite passage of the bill authorizing expansion of the army air corps to 6000 planes. It has been delayed by a week's debate ranging over many phases of American foreign policy.

Cites Needs
"If Guam should be made an impenetrable defense," Leahy said, "I don't believe any enemy would attempt to cross the Pacific, passing Guam and leaving that kind of a defense behind him."

He said that without proper defenses, Guam could only be "a listening post." He estimated $80,000,000 would be necessary to make the island "difficult to take" by an enemy and $200,000,000 for fortifying it to the extent where it could hold out indefinitely.

Sen. Hiram W. Johnson, R., Cal., said that expenditure of $5,000,000 for island improvements "would be just as objectionable to someone else as if we went ahead and fortified it."

"No Objection"
"I don't see why anyone should object to harbor improvements," Leahy replied.

"But there is objection, isn't there?"

"I don't know," Leahy said. "I've heard of none officially."

The admiral testified that the proposed work at Guam could be considered a step in the country's defense program to the extent that "it would be helpful to have some place in the Guam area from which to operate our scouting planes."

FDR "Champion Of Democracy"

WASHINGTON, March 6.—(UP)—Gen. Hugh S. Johnson today characterized President Roosevelt as the most distinguished champion of democracy "in this dangerous world" and presented to him a medal honoring his service for better understanding between Christians and Jews.

The award, made on behalf of the American Hebrew magazine, was voted to the President by a committee of 55 comprising both Christians and Jews.

"Trophies for your great service to humanity have been many," Johnson said in a ceremony at the White House. "But in this bewildering day of intense prejudice and barbaric persecution, I doubt if any was better deserved or more important."

ASKS LOAN PROBE

SACRAMENTO, Cal., March 6.—(UP)—Senate investigation of the Pacific States Saving and Loan company was asked today by Senator Jess Mayo, R., Angels Camp, as attention to the taking over of the huge company shifted to Sacramento.

Press Time Bulletins

SACRAMENTO, Cal., March 6.—(UP)—Gov. Culbert Olson today denied there was any personal or political significance to the taking over by the state of the Pacific States Saving & Loan Association and assured the thousands of company investors their interests were protected.

"Regardless of any fire aroused, this administration is going to see that laws are lived up to, regardless of friends, foes, political contributions or anything else," Olson declared.

BRUSSELS, March 6.—(UP)—King Leopold today dissolved parliament and ordered new elections held on April 2.

DETROIT, March 6.—(UP)—A convention of the United Automobile Workers voted unanimously today to bar Communists from union membership.

The convention, representing that part of the union which regards Homer Martin as the rightful UAW president, adopted an amendment to the union constitution barring Communists from membership and forbidding persons subject to primary orders or other organizations from holding office.

WASHINGTON, March 6.—(UP)—Sen. George W. Norris, Ind., urged a Senate investigation today of "fabulous prices the government is called upon to pay" for airplanes.

REDDING, Cal., March 6.—(UP)—The Congress of Industrial Organizations today issued a ringing challenge to its rival union, the American Federation of Labor, to denounce the efforts of a "reactionary county administration to flinch from labor's right to picket."

The challenge was addressed to AFL State Secretary Edward Vandeleur and National President William Green, through Green's representative here, Rowland Watson.

Youth Driving Stolen Car Killed In Crash

A 15-year-old boy, assertedly driving a stolen car, was fatally injured at 4:10 a. m. yesterday in a head-on collision of the machine and one driven by John A. Bellows, 31 of 3960 Arizona street, San Diego, on the State highway near the golf course in San Clemente.

The youth, George A. Morrow, jr., of 4262 Ampudia street, San Diego, passed away at Santa Ana Valley hospital at 4:20 a. m. today. He was the 10th accident victim in Orange county this year.

He suffered a fractured skull and a fractured left leg. Bellows, while in a serious condition, was believed improved today. He also suffered a fractured skull and fractured left leg.

Young Morrow was driving north on the highway, while Bellows was returning to his home in San Diego when the crash occurred. Both victims of the accident were rushed to the hospital by the Divel ambulance. Investigating the accident were Chief of Police Lovell and Officers Floyd Cowger and Richard Fortune.

The body of the Morrow boy was taken to the Brown and Wagner Colonial chapel here. Date for an inquest will be set later by Coroner Earl Abbey.

May Be Sainted
Denis Cardinal Dougherty of Philadelphia, and George Cardinal Mundelein of Chicago, have petitioned the Catholic Church's Sacred College of Rites in Rome to approve the canonization of Mother Elizabeth Seton, above. Distantly related to President Roosevelt, Mother Seton would be the first American-born saint.

FDR STANDS PAT ON WPA FUNDS DEMAND
WASHINGTON, March 6.—(UP)—President Roosevelt, defying a growing Congressional drive for economy, informed his legislative leaders today that within the next week he will renew his request for an additional $150,000,000 to finance relief this spring.

Mr. Roosevelt made his original request for the $150,000,000 last month, shortly after signing a deficiency appropriation bill which Congress had trimmed to $725,000,000 after he had asked for $875,000,000.

Reiterates Demand
At a White House conference during which his Congressional leaders informed him of the "February Rebellion" for economy, it was learned the President reiterated his demands for the additional funds to finance WPA relief until the new fiscal year begins July 1.

The new request, it was indicated, will be in the form of a deficiency estimate to be presented to the House appropriations committee.

Since receiving the former request a special message to both Houses, Congress has evinced no indication that it intends to reverse itself and provide the additional funds.

Sees Emergency
Mr. Roosevelt contends that a relief emergency exists, and that under the $725,000,000 appropriation drastic reductions will have to be made in relief rolls after April 1.

WPA rolls currently total about 3,000,000 and WPA officials (Continued on Page 4, Column 8)

Jail Two Youths As Bandits
FRESNO, Cal., March 6.—(UP)—Two youths—one 19, the other 22—were held here on robbery charges today after admitting to police they were involved in a series of central and Northern California armed holdups.

Det. Sgt. Dan Lung of the Fresno police said the youths, Earl Pretzer, 19, and Virgil D. Caldwell, 22, had confessed implication in "petting party" holdups near Oakland and Salinas; robbery of an Alameda tavern of $60; and holdups of a service station and cafe in the Fresno area.

The youths said a girl named "Pat" accompanied them in some of their escapades. Lung said Pretzer was armed at the time of his arrest. The youth is under probation for a previous theft charge.

Jack Benny Trial Postponed
HOLLYWOOD, March 6.—(UP)—Jack Benny, radio and screen comedian, went into seclusion at a Palm Springs resort hotel today after announcing that his New York trial on smuggling charges had been postponed.

The trial had been scheduled to open tomorrow. Benny said his attorneys had obtained a continuance until the first week in April. He was indicted several months ago for allegedly smuggling $2131 worth of jewelry from Europe with the aid of Albert N. Chaperau. At his arraignment he pleaded not guilty.

He said he would rest in Palm Springs for three days, then return here to complete his latest screen vehicle.

Wins $10,266 For Feeding Indians
BOISE, Ida., March 6.—(UP)—Keith Farley, Idaho hotelman, today held a federal court jury verdict awarding him $10,266 from Frank Messenger, Metro Goldwyn Mayer director, and Loew's Inc., of New York city for feeding 400 Indians at McCall last summer during filming of "Northwest Passage."

The defendants said they would appeal to the court at San Francisco.

Arkansas Slayers Sought In State
SACRAMENTO, Cal., March 6.—(UP)—An extradition hearing for return of two 23-year-old convicted Arkansas slayers to complete life sentences will be held March 15 on request of Arkansas Gov. Carl Bailey, it was announced today.

In his application for extradition of the pair, Governor Bailey said Herbert Lee Holland pleaded guilty in 1934 to slaying a 16-year-old girl, his brother and another man, and that the other, Jesse Hardester, pleaded guilty in 1933 to killing a man at Rupert, Ark. Authorities were asked to locate the youths, said to be employed in California and to have "excellent reputations" here.

Child Murdered "By Mistake"
ST. JOSEPH, Mo., March 6.—(UP)—William P. Purkhiser, 53, a prosperous insurance executive, murdered a child "by mistake" last week and yesterday, in self-imposed retribution, killed himself, police said today.

Purkhiser had intended murdering the child's mother, and, perhaps, her step-father. He had broken into their home, thinking it unoccupied, intending to wait in ambush. He found the child there and she ridiculed him with high-school humor. He clubbed her to death and fled.

The child was Hazelene Black, 13. She was murdered in her parents' home in Oklahoma City Thursday. His body was found last night.

Raisin Growers Discuss Prorate
FRESNO, Cal., March 6.—(UP)—A series of public hearings were announced today to test opinions of San Joaquin Valley raisin growers regarding the state prorate.

R. L. Miller, agent of prorate zone No. 1, said more than 10,000 notices of the hearings had been sent to growers in Kern, Tulare, Kings, Fresno, Madera, Merced, and Stanislaus counties. The meetings open March 9 at Delano and conclude April 7 with a hearing at Modesto.

JAPAN SEEKS U. S. "TRUCE"

TOKYO, March 6.—(UP)—Foreign Minister Hachiro Arita told the diet tonight that Japan will strive for friendly relations with the United States and Great Britain.

His declaration followed announcement by Navy Minister Admiral Mitsumasa Yonai that Japan planned a navy to match the most powerful foreign fleet in the world.

"Japan does not want to antagonize Britain and the United States," Arita said. "Therefore, Japanese diplomacy will not be limited to the tripartite agreement."

Need Understanding
"Japan also will strive to be friendly with the democracies. It is necessary that the new order in East Asia involve an understanding with Britain and the United States."

Arita did not, however, mention France specifically. Recently Japan seized Hainan island, near French Indo-China, which France had warned Tokyo would not be considered a friendly move.

SLEEPER LAUNCHES ANNUAL ASSESSMENT

The annual assessment of Orange county's millions in property wealth began at noon today under the direction of Assessor James Sleeper, who sent a crew of 17 deputies into the field for the huge task.

Sleeper took occasion to issue an appeal to the taxpayers for cooperation in the work, in the interest of economy.

Huge Task
The deputies must make contacts covering more than 70,000 individual assessments, he pointed out, besides collecting more than $400,000 in unsecured taxes on personal property, handling 3300 soldier exemption claims, as well as exemption of all churches. It means that every move must count and waste motion must be reduced to the minimum, said the assessor.

"When a deputy contacts a property owner," he said, "he has his statement showing the value of the real estate, buildings and trees. If the property owner is not satisfied with these values he should take the matter up with the assessor's office and not argue with the deputy, as the deputy has no authority to change any of these values."

Works For Taxpayers
"I am asking all taxpayers to cooperate with us in making our assessments, by having a list of all their personal property ready when the deputy calls. By doing so, time is saved, and that reduces the costs, which means a saving to the taxpayer."

"I want to impress upon every taxpayer the fact that we are working for them, and doing all in our power to keep the expense of this office down. I trust the taxpayers appreciate our effort and will assist us by giving the deputies prompt attention when called upon."

Deputies Listed
The list of field deputies and the territory they will cover follows: Orange city, A. R. Benson; Huntington Beach city and school district, R. A. Chaffee; Newport Beach city and school district, Seal Beach city and school district, Fred S. Chapman; Costa Mesa, Diamond; Fountain Valley, Greenville, Laguna, Paulmarino, Santa Ana and Serra school districts and San Clemente city, Glen L. Cramer; Anaheim city, John Eley and Ernest Zitzman; Anaheim and Placentia school districts and Placentia city, John Eley; Fullerton city, John J. Omelia and L. L. Fuller; Fullerton and Orange-Thorpe school districts, L. L. Fuller.

HEADS OF "RENO RING" LOSE FIGHT IN MAIL FRAUD CASE
NEW YORK, March 6.—(UP)—The U. S. circuit court of appeals of the second district today affirmed the conviction on mail fraud charges of William J. Graham and James C. McKay, Reno, Nev., gambling promoters who financed the "Reno ring" of confidence men.

Graham and McKay, operators of Reno gambling clubs, were convicted in February, 1938, after their third trial on charges that they supplied banking facilities and police protection for a ring which cheated hundreds of persons out of an estimated $2,500,000 over a two year period, starting in 1931. Previous trials had ended in jury disagreements.

Sentenced, Fined
Retired Supreme Court Justice Willis Vandevanter, sitting as trial judge in U. S. district court, sentenced both men to nine years in federal prison and fined them $11,000 each.

The convictions of Boies Heed and Allen Comer, "field agents" of the swindling syndicate, also were affirmed by the court. Each had been sentenced to three years in prison.

The ruling was handed down by the court from which Martin T. Manton, facing trial on federal conspiracy charges, resigned last month. The opinion was written by Judge Harrie B. Chase with Judge Learned Hand concurring. A notation at the end of the opinion said it was written after Manton's resignation.

Rap Vandevanter
The appeals court's action ended a 12 months period of argument over defense contentions that the conviction was improper.

"INDEPENDENCE OR DEATH" IS CRY OF NEW LOYALIST REGIME

When State Closed $50,000,000 Loan Company

Crowds gathered outside the doors of the $50,000,000 Pacific States Savings and Loan Company in San Francisco Saturday when the State Building and Loan Commissioner "took over" the concern, largest of its kind. Today, ousted officials of the loan company moved along political and legal fronts to regain control of the organization. Charging "political confiscation," President Robert Stewart Odell demanded an immediate interview with Governor Culbert Olson. The seizure was a surprise move to all concerned.

MAHATMA GANDHI NEAR DEATH, CONTINUES "HUNGER STRIKE"
RAJKOT, India, March 6.—(UP)—Mahatma Gandhi, on a hunger strike "even unto death," was so weak today that he could not sit up in bed without becoming giddy, and his physicians feared that he might lapse into unconsciousness at any moment.

As Gandhi entered the fourth day of his fast, a dispatch from Benares said 45 persons had been killed and 200 wounded in communal rioting during which police were forced to fire on a mob and as the result of which several houses were set afire.

Fear Fast Fatal
There was no connection, it was said, between these riots and the hunger strike of Gandhi in protest against the refusal of the young Thakore Saheb of Rajkot state to carry out promised reforms.

He had been advised that he was in no condition to fast, but he insisted. His heart action was weak and his general condition was sufficient to cause his physicians increasing alarm. He had lost two pounds—his weight normally varies between 85 and 105 pounds—and his blood pressure had risen from 168 to 180.

Demand Action
The nationalist congress ministry at Allahabad telegraphed today to Lord Linlithgow, viceroy of India, threatening to resign unless he intervened to induce the Thakore Saheb to make good his promised liberalization of government, and permit Gandhi to call off the fast which he says he will continue to death unless the promise is validated.

It was reported that Lord Linlithgow was so anxious over the situation precipitated by the Mahatma's fast that he canceled the remaining portion of a tour he was making and intended to hurry back to New Delhi to consult his advisors.

"Confiscation"
Evans took over the company "to conserve its assets," Odell ousted as company president, charged the seizure actually was "political confiscation."

Odell's court action was the first step of a determined fight to regain control of the huge company. He was to confer with Gov. Culbert Olson later today. Odell's petition was filed by the company attorney, Theodore Roche. It asked:

1.—Immediate surrender of all assets and possessions now under custody of the building and loan commissioner.

2.—That pending final adjudication the state be temporarily restrained from dismissing the employees of the company or in liquidating or disposing of any part of the business.

3.—A permanent injunction against the state from further proceedings in connection with these matters.

4.—That the court award the plaintiff the cost incurred in filing and procuring the injunction.

Thanks Governor For Reprieve
HUNTSVILLE, Tex., March 6.—(UP)—Winzell Williams, 20-year-old negro murderer and cage celebre in Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel's campaign to abolish capital punishment, was electrocuted early today in the state prison.

He died calmly after expressing gratitude to O'Daniel for an extra 30 days of life, granted to impress the "horror of executions" on the minds of Texans but which, instead, provoked criticism throughout the state.

Williams, who killed E. B. Atwood, 63, Dallas dairyman for whom he had worked, walked to the death cell with Father Hugh Finnegan, prison chaplain, at 12:10 a. m., a few hours after he had enjoyed his last meal, a full course fish dinner.

Chief Justice Suffers Cold
WASHINGTON, March 6.—(UP)—A slight cold prevented Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes from attending today's Supreme Court session.

It was believed to be the first session that Hughes has missed since he was appointed in 1930. Court attaches expected him to return to the bench tomorrow or Wednesday.

LOCAL WOMAN, 88, THINKS OF HER TWIN SISTER ON BIRTHDAY

It is somewhat remarkable for any person to celebrate her 88th birthday.

But it is much more remarkable when a person is celebrating her 88th birthday—and has a twin sister also celebrating her birthday.

Quite remarkable, too, is the daughter and niece. Mrs. B. N. Roberts who also is a twin. She has pioneered in several states going to Oklahoma with her husband, the late Joseph Wilson, where they were in the hotel business for a number of years. They came to Orange county in 1913.

Made Own Clothes
Mrs. Wilson recalls many interesting events in her life.

As a girl she wove the cloth for her own clothes of cotton, wool or flax, helping to raise the cotton and flax and to care for the sheep that gave them the wool. The silk thread used in sewing the garments was manufactured by the family as well, silkworms furnishing the raw silk which was made by hand into thread and dyed to match materials to be used.

Next year, or the following, Mrs. Wilson hopes to spend the anniversary with her twin sister whom she has not seen since 16 years ago when a family reunion was held in Oklahoma.

10 INJURED IN LOCAL TRAFFIC

Ten persons were injured during week-end traffic in Santa Ana and Orange county, according to reports of nine accidents.

Mrs. Carl Meier, Route 2, Santa Ana, suffered fractured clavicle Saturday afternoon on 101 highway at Newport road, when her car and one driven by Paul Storie, 25, of Stearns, K., collided. Mrs. Storie, who was riding with her husband to deliver the brand new car they were in to Dr. H. Burl Mart, of Los Angeles, suffered cuts and Mrs. Elizabeth King, Los Angeles, was cut about the face. Both cars were badly damaged. Mrs. Meier and Mrs. King were taken to Santa Ana Valley hospital for treatment.

Other Collisions
Joe Campos, 22, Santa Ana, later arrested on a drunk driving charge, and his companion, Ben Barriga, 19, Santa Ana, were injured late Saturday at Orange avenue and McFadden street, when the Campos car collided with one driven by Augustus H. Allen, 45, Santa Ana.

Warren Foster, 21, Huntington Beach, suffered minor injuries when his car and one driven by Shizuhir Sakayama, 52, Clearwater, were involved in a crash at Stanton boulevard and First street Sunday at 7:30 p. m. Sakayama was not hurt.

Slightly Injured
Dana Edwards, 4½-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Edwards, 928 North Baker, was slightly injured yesterday shortly after noon on West Washington just after her father had delivered an automobile to 1547 West Washington. The girl got out of the car driven by her father and started to run across the street to her mother who was in another car when a car operated by Elmer Meyer, 22, 2038 North Main, struck her down, witnesses said. In trying to avoid striking the girl, Meyer ran into the parked Edwards' car.

Raymond H. Lewis, son of Mrs. Ardith Lewis, Westminster, suffered bruises about the head Saturday at Washington and Ross when cars driven by Mrs. Lewis and Joy Lee Bramley, 1324 South Sycamore, collided. L. W. Hypes, 1734 West First, reported Saturday evening a man drove into his car, damaging a fender, but failed to stop. The man's car license number is 5-X-1924, Hypes said. Police said that license is registered to Juan Mendez, 1810 West Second.

Follows Another
Miss Betty DeVenney, 1214 South Sycamore, told police a man driving a car bearing license 4-V-1492, collided with her car, damaging a fender, last night. Police said the license is registered to L. H. Ghiswell, Huntington Park.

William R. Patton, Los Angeles, told Santa Ana police he followed another car into Santa Ana from Costa Mesa late Saturday night after he believed the other car had struck down a bicycle rider, that at Second and Main, the other car swerved into his car, sideswiping it, then sped easterly on Second. Patton said the license number of the car which purportedly hit the bicyclist, then his car, is 5-X-9355, which is registered to J. A. Trewett, 315 North Harvard, Orange. However, preliminary investigation has failed to locate an injured person of the Costa Mesa district.

REV. HOGUE TO BE CONCLAVE SPEAKER

Formerly of Santa Ana and now minister of the Pomona Presbyterian church, the Rev. Harland Hogue will deliver the Saturday evening message of the Golden Jubilee Christian Endeavor convention which will convene on March 10, 11 and 12 at the Santa Ana high school auditorium.

The Rev. Mr. Hogue attended the Santa Ana schools and was at one time affiliated with the local United Presbyterian church, and he later filled pastorates in San Diego and Pomona. He has been a popular speaker with many young people's conventions held throughout the state. A string trio composed of Valeska Porter, Anna Mae Archer and Margaret Davies will entertain on the same program with several numbers. The 100 voice convention chorus also will be featured at this session.

Monan from Jack C. Monan, cruelty; Belle A. Richardson from George L. Richardson, cruelty; Commodore Perry

HOLMES TRIAL PLEA DATE SET

Laverne Holmes today moved for a new trial of the kidnaping charge which resulted in his conviction by a jury last week, and hearing was set by Judge H. G. Ames for March 10, at which time judgment will be pronounced unless the new trial is granted.

Defense Attorney N. D. Meyer will press the motion for a new trial on the possible ground of newly discovered evidence, and the contention that the verdicts of guilty in the kidnaping case and acquittal of a charge that he attempted to murder his 16-year-old wife, Virginia, were inconsistent; also that the evidence was insufficient to support the charge of kidnaping.

"Can't Kidnap Wife"

Meyer said he will contend that Mrs. Holmes, who obtained her interlocutory divorce decree on the day preceding her alleged kidnaping and shooting, was not actually divorced, since no final decree had been entered. The defense, according to Meyer, will present the proposition that a man cannot kidnap his wife.

To support his claim of inconsistency of verdicts, Meyer will cite a court decision holding, in substance, that since in one instance (attempted murder) the testimony of the complaining witness was disregarded by the jury, it is subject to suspicion in all other respects, such as the kidnaping charge.

IDENTIFY YOUTH AS GUN WIELDER

Norman Robinson, 18, of 614 West Second street, whose asserted confessions cleared up not only a half dozen burglaries in Santa Ana but the attempted armed robbery of J. S. Lewis at his grocery store, 623 South Flower, a week ago, pleaded not guilty before Justice Howard C. Cameron in Santa Ana justice court today and waived his preliminary hearing.

An unusual coincidence occurred when former Justice Kenneth E. Morrison, now a practicing attorney, was called upon to represent Robinson that Robinson could legally waive the preliminary hearing.

Will Hear Testimony

Robinson, who assertedly confessed the attempted holdup of Lewis to Officers Charles W. Wolford and Richard Bradley this morning, will go into superior court Friday to hear evidence against him.

Robinson, identified by Lewis after the asserted confession, went into the grocery store, stuck a gun against Lewis and said he needed $5. Lewis asked if $2 wouldn't be enough and just then a customer came into the store. Robinson ran out of a side door, according to allegations, without any money. A robbery charge has not been filed against Robinson, now charged with burglary. He was caught in the act of burglarizing a local service station, officers allege. Robinson failed to make $5000 bail.

L. A. BANKER LOSES RELIEF CASE PLEA

Lawrence M. Gregory, Los Angeles branch bank manager, must repay Orange county to the extent of $120 for relief extended to his father, Dwight W. Gregory, of Anaheim, under a ruling just made in Riverside superior court by Judge G. W. Freeman.

This represents partial reimbursement to the county, which had granted $35 per month aid for eight months, it was announced to the court by James E. Walker, former deputy district attorney, who had conducted the case for the county.

The banker represented that he was willing to care for his father, but the latter refused to live in Los Angeles, because of domestic difficulties.

The suit, originally filed in Orange county, was moved to Riverside county courts on a change of venue granted to the defendant.

HISTORIC COUNTY SITE DRAWS L. B. MAN ON TREASURE HUNT

Buried treasure of the Spanish Dons and lost gold mines are the hobby of Dean Coigdarripe, 2535 Caspian avenue, Long Beach, who was a visitor in the wilds of Trabuco canyon during the week end.

Object of his search was the site of Santiago Arguello adobe house on the mesa in the canyon, where scores of holes have been dug in search of buried treasure. "It's just a hobby," the young man said today. "I read everything I can find on the subject and then attempt to visit the spots written about. I have read Frank Dobie's book, 'Coronado's Children,' four times.

"Recently I came across Terry Stephenson's 'Camino Viejo' and was intrigued by the chapter on buried treasure in Orange county. I couldn't rest until I had visited the actual sites he mentions.

"Some day a machine will be invented that will assist in locating buried gold and other treasure and then my hobby will be worth money. In the meantime I am having a great time and seeing lots of new country and interesting sights."

While here, Coigdarripe talked with Flake Smith, assistant postmaster, concerning a lost mine in Arizona that has been the object of search by Smith's relatives.

Melvin Brush Held To Answer

Melvin Brush, Los Angeles man charged with bigamy, was held to answer to superior court today when his preliminary hearing occurred in Santa Ana justice court before Justice Howard C. Cameron. Bail was fixed at $1500.

According to officials, Brush left his first wife whom he is reported to have married in Arkansas, and married a Los Angeles girl here before divorce declared he had received a letter from Arkansas which indicated to him his first wife had secured a divorce, then married the second girl, according to reports. He has pleaded not guilty to the bigamy charge. Information will be filed against him in superior court Friday, it was decided.

RESUME FLOOD DAMAGE TRIAL

Giving promise of extending throughout this week and into next, trial of the $34,750 damage suit brought against the county flood control district by Jerome Wallace and Arthur Hartelt, West Anaheim ranchers, was resumed today before Superior Judge Charles C. Haines, of San Diego, in Judge Franklin G. West's court.

C. C. Sidnam, Anaheim real estate man and appraiser, was recalled to the stand today by counsel for the flood control district, and was questioned by Deputy District Attorney Preston Turner regarding the character of the soil and condition of trees in various portions of the Wallace and Hartelt ranches, which were submerged in the flood of March 3, 1938.

Claims Recited

Wallace asks $22,680 and Har-

telt $12,050 for damages, which they claim was caused by breaking of levees of the West Anaheim storm basin, causing water to pour across their lands. They contend that the storm basin was built across the old river channel and diverted the water from its natural course.

The flood district attorneys claim that the levees were built at one side of the channel, and that the Wallace and Hartelt ranches were partly in the channel.

Sidnam today testified to making soil borings on the ranches, and described the character of the soil, portions of it being sand beneath a foot or so of top soil, he said. The condition of the trees ranged from good to fair and in some instances there were trees of poor condition, he said.

Bitter Debate On Olson Tax Plan Looms As Legislature Convenes

The Younger Regeneration

ARMY MAN GETS JOB VACATED BY PRESIDENT'S SON "JIMMY"

WASHINGTON, March 6.—(UP)—Col. Edwin M. Watson, for six years senior White House military aide, will become a secretary to President Roosevelt in April, filling the vacancy caused by resignation of James Roosevelt.

Watson, with a record of 33 years of active service in the army, will be nominated this week to be a brigadier general. He will take the rank on March 31. Almost immediately thereafter he will retire from the service and join the White House secretariat.

The colonel, a favorite with White House visitors because of his wit and joviality, is expected to serve in a liaison capacity. His salary will be $10,000 a year.

West Pointer

James Roosevelt left last year quit his job as secretary to his father to become a vice president of the Samuel Goldwyn motion picture enterprise. Since then the White House has had only two secretaries, Marvin McIntyre and Stephen T. Early. Both of them have been at the White House since Mr. Roosevelt took office.

Watson was graduated from West Point in 1908. In France he commanded the first battalion of the 12th field artillery, the first American artillery unit to go into action. For gallantry in action at Thiaucourt he was decorated by the American, French and Belgian governments.

When the war was over he became chief of the military section of the peace commission and a junior aide to President Wilson.

Loyalists Await Franco Proposal

pressed. At noon Sunday Casado called into conference the men with whom he later formed the council.

In order to avoid public attention, Casado called the meeting at his general army headquarters. It was decided to overthrow the government. Casado quietly checked with all key army men on the Madrid front and waited until night to announce his coup.

FRANCO DEMANDS EARLY SURRENDER

BURGOS, Spain, March 6.—(UP)—The Nationalist radio today warned Republican Spain that all persons attempting to continue resistance would be "inexorably punished."

Deadline Near

At the same time, however, the broadcaster told the Republicans that only a few days could be permitted for surrender. Franco's armies are ready to strike with renewed force if Republican Spain does not capitulate, the radio message said.

Rebels Arm, one of Nationalist Spain's leading war correspondents, broadcast the warning to the Republicans.

"Yesterday Minorca, today Cartagena and tomorrow other pieces of territory join our cause," he said.

"The generosity which Franco once more offers the red zone will have a limit for there can be no pardon for those who commit new outrages or are responsible for further bloodshed."

"Spain calls you and will receive you piously and indulgently. But those who refuse to hear our call and wish still to show their spite against us for defenseless reasons will be inexorably punished."

"Moscow Out"

The broadcasts were intended for listeners in Republican Spain, especially at Cartagena where Nationalists claimed an uprising still was in progress.

News of the overthrow of Negrin was interpreted by Nationalists as meaning that common sense had shown itself and that genuine Spaniards had thrown off the "Yoke of Moscow."

These Nationalists quarters emphasized that Communists were not represented in the new defense council and that Besteiro, though a member of the Socialist party, is well known to be a moderate who has opposed violence.

SACRAMENTO, Cal., March 6.—(UP)—Three months of bitter debate on Gov. Olson's far-reaching program of new taxes and liberal legislation confronted the legislature today as both houses swung into the last half session.

The governor was ready to defy all opposition in his attempt to bring a new deal to California. Interim hearings revealed that partisan fights will flare on a dozen fronts, particularly against new tax structures that Olson estimates will return $63,900,000 in revenues if accepted as part of his $557,000,000 biennial budget.

Business Skeptical

Most important issue continues to be unemployment relief and the administration proposal to minimize existing cash debt payments with a public works system of production-for-use projects.

Olson and Dewey Anderson, his relief administrator, have not perfected their plans but private business is skeptical that unemployed can produce for themselves without injuring private industry.

Before any change in relief is attempted, Olson must ask five million dollars from the legislature to continue relief payments from May 6 through the biennium ending June 30. Another deficiency relief appropriation of $19,750,000 was voted in January to finish the biennium but Olson explained that figures used for estimates were "inaccurately furnished by the past administration."

Study Relief

Passage of the second relief fund was scheduled as one of the first acts of the legislature after its five-week constitutional recess. Olson planned to make his request today or tomorrow.

Practical application and potentialities of the production-for-use theory in relief was studied not only by the legislature but an advisory committee of 10 prominent citizens, headed by Chester Rowell, San Francisco publicist. Governor Olson named the group to confer with Dr. Anderson after the relief executive told the senate relief committee continuation of present policies would bankrupt California in 10 years.

As committees in both houses lined up today for busy schedule of hearings, issues shaped up in several groups, including health insurance, low-cost housing, labor legislation, old age pensions and relief, repeal of the agricultural prorate law, merging of social welfare and relief agencies, public ownership of revenue bonds, strengthening of corrupt practices act, milk control, and lobbying curbs.

Faces Obstacles

The governor is confident a major share of his program will be approved. Chief obstacles are a conservative senate, controlled by a 22 to 18 Republican majority, and a possible coalition in the assembly of minority Republicans with conservative Democrats.

Olson can reasonably expect to control the 44 to 36 Democratic margin in the lower house most of the time but there will be many show-downs of strength.

Party leaders hope that interim discussion of the budget will pare down the usual seven or eight weeks of fiscal debate to a month or less.

Administration critics will battle Olson's new tax items, in which he proposes definite boosts on liquor, petroleum, mining, horse racing, banks, corporations, incomes in higher brackets, gifts and inheritances. Liquor and horse race taxes were rated best bets to be accepted.

Rival Unions In Watchful Truce

WESTWOOD, Calif., March 6.—(UP)—Rival union employees of the Red River lumber company continued a watchful truce today as they awaited the arrival of a conciliator carrying a proposal designed to permit reopening of the mill.

Lt. Col. Charles Henderson, delegated by Gov. Culbert L. Olson to find a peaceful solution to the dispute between the American Federation of Labor and the Congress of Industrial Organizations, planned to contact labor leaders immediately after his arrival.

Henderson, delayed in Sacramento by a day of idleness, originally had planned to call a joint mass meeting of CIO and AFL rank and file members. After last week's fist fighting and rioting, however, observers believed it might be impossible to bring the two factions together without violence.

On Tuesday afternoon and evening they will meet at the home of Mrs. Loretta Ferris to sew on aprons for a future bazaar and all contribute to a covered dish dinner at 6:30 o'clock.

The monthly card party, which is open to the public will be held in Legion hall on March 17 with Mrs. Clara Olsen in charge of the games.

At the close of the meeting Mrs. Anabel Bryan, Mrs. Bertha Collins and Mrs. Beryl Harvey served refreshments of cake and coffee.

BRITES MAY ESCAPE DEATH ON GALLOWS

SACRAMENTO, Cal., March 6.—(UP)—The possibility that life in prison rather than death on the gallows may await John and Coke Brites, convicted Horse Creek slayers, was seen today as Gov. Culbert Olson studied files of the two brothers who have been reprieved seven times since 1936.

The governor set the execution date for May 12 but it is understood to be giving serious thought to commuting the terms to life imprisonment. He pointed out in his reprieve message last week the supreme court had recommended clemency for the men and he wanted to study the voluminous files closely because of an adverse ruling by the state advisory pardon board.

Battled Deputies

The first six reprieves were issued by former Gov. Frank F. Merriam as the case was shuttled back and forth in the courts and state boards. The new governor, while a candidate last fall, visited with Siskiyou county officials and others in the case at Yreka, where the Brites were convicted in a sensational trial of murdering three men in a gun battle.

The Brites brothers have been in the Folsom prison death row since Dec. 24, 1936. They were charged with killing Deputy Sheriff Martin Lange, Constable Joseph Clark and Fred Seaborn when the trio tried to arrest them on an assault charge. The Brites claimed self-defense but were convicted largely on testimony from C. C. Baker, lone survivor of the fight and chief prosecution witness. The brothers surrendered several weeks after the killings.

The advisory pardon board ruled against leniency last March and the state supreme court followed in June with a majority opinion asking Governor Merriam to commute the death sentences to life imprisonment. The court had before it the recommendation of District Attorney James E. Davis of Siskiyou county that the men be given life because Baker had admitted changing his story on the witness stand.

among Japan, Germany and Italy is not a totalitarian union against the democracies, Arita argued, adding that "Japan is not a totalitarian state."

The anti-Communist agreement is directed solely against the Communist International, he said.

Answers Russia

Japan's big navy plans were announced by Yonai less than a week after disclosure in Moscow that Soviet Russia is planning to build a navy big enough to defeat any foreign navy "in its own waters."

As he made his statement the cabinet had just approved a five year navy building program, a five year army and navy air force program and a four year armaments improvement program.

Admiral Yonai appeared before the house of representatives to discuss the navy program.

Inyu Miyazawa, of the Minseitō political group, asked him what the navy was doing about British and American navy expansion.

"The new Vinson plan of the American navy provides for a 20 per cent addition to navy treaty armaments," Yonai replied. "Britain also is enlarging armaments."

"We are not planning for simultaneous operations against both powers but we are aiming to obtain such armaments as will be necessary to make relative operations against the better equipped of the two."

County Gardens To Be Described

In the first of a series of radio programs entitled "Orange County Gardens," Willis Cadwallader will describe the garden of Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Martin, 1145 South Ross street, tomorrow.

The program will be broadcast at 10:15 every Tuesday morning over a local radio station.

In addition to describing a different Orange county garden each week, Mr. Cadwallader, who studied horticulture at the University of Redlands and who has done landscape work in Santa Ana for the past 12 years, will review garden club news each week and will conduct a question box pertaining to garden topics.

The defense contended that Vandevanter, because of his retirement from the Supreme Court, was not qualified as trial judge. Taaffe and Polakoff also asserted that Vandevanter's charge to the jury and his conduct of the trial were "full of error."

The defense also contended that Assistant U. S. Attorney William Power Maloney improperly attempted to impeach one of his own witnesses, Noble John Moore.

Denies Testimony

Moore, a convicted member of the confidence ring, repudiated his testimony of previous trials and said he had been "persuaded" by federal authorities to take the stand against Graham and McKeay.

Maloney, assuring the court that Moore's repudiation came as a "surprise," said the "real reason" the convict changed his testimony "and committed perjury in the third trial is best known by counsel for the appellants."

The Reno ring operated all over the country and in Canada, finding victims—usually at resort places—for the old "race track game" and conveying them to Reno for final fleeing. Victims were persuaded that they had won huge sums wagering on horse races and told they would have to put up equal sums, in cash or negotiable securities, as evidence that they could have paid had they lost.

Agents of the ring, posing as race track officials, took the "good-faith" money from the victims in Reno and left them stranded.

"SPECIAL" CAR RULES LISTED

A vehicle must first be classified as an emergency vehicle before a siren or red light, or both, may be placed on it legally. Capt. H. C. Meehan, head of the California highway patrol in Orange county, revealed today in answering several questions of interested motorists.

One motorist wanted to know how he could secure a permit to use a siren and red light on his car. "To have a siren and red light, or both, on your car, you must first have an 'emergency vehicle,' the captain said. "These may be either publicly or privately owned although they must meet conditions set up in the state vehicle code. There is no charge where permission must be secured."

Has Right To Act

"Has an arresting officer in a traffic matter, authority to take a person to court immediately if such person's doesn't have an operator's license or some other identification?" one motorist asked. "The law says the arresting officer shall do as you state unless other satisfactory evidence or identification is furnished," Captain Meehan stated.

Another question and answer: I am employed by the H. O. L. C. and use my car exclusively for government services and would like to have a set of U. S.-California license plates. How do I obtain these and what affidavits are required? A motor vehicle such as you describe cannot be given free exempt license plates. Only publicly owned vehicles are furnished such plates and then only for the time they are owned and operated."

Babies Get a Break in New Foods

Designed Specially for Them. Most older people can remember when little attention was given to special diets for babies. They usually were able to get along fairly well by chewing on a piece of toast or bone, most of the diet consisting of crudely mashed vegetables or chopped meat prepared by the mother in the home.

In most instances the baby was served the same food as the rest of the family, except that the amounts were smaller and the most obviously crude and rough materials were avoided. As we have learned more and more about the important substances in the diet and the nature of the baby's digestive apparatus, manufacturers have developed more and more types of foods planned particularly for the baby and the growing child. We know, for example, that highly-seasoned foods may be irritating to the delicate digestive system of the infant. Therefore, soups made for infants are seasoned only with a small amount of salt. Such seasonings as mustard, pepper, and paprika are completely avoided.

We know also that the baby's digestive apparatus is not fitted to take care of fibrous materials which is the basis of what is called roughage. Therefore, soups for babies are usually passed through a sieve to bring about a fine consistency.

As the baby needs food concentrated in materials necessary for growth, soups for babies are seldom thin consommés or extracts. They are preferably thick soups with much more food value in each teaspoonful than is found in a cup of ordinary soup. The baby does not drink soup as does the adult. Its stomach does not have the capacity of the adult stomach. A soup for an adult may consist largely of water and some extractive. In soups prepared for babies, however, there are usually considerable amounts of liver or other meats which will provide iron and necessary vitamins. Milk does not provide enough iron, and certainly not enough vitamin B1 for the baby's needs.

In addition to various specially prepared soups now available, manufacturers have also prepared meats, vegetables and cereals which have been passed through a sieve to get rid of the masses of fibrous material. The vegetables include spinach, peas, tomatoes, potatoes, celery, and green peas and carrots. The cereals include rice, barley flour, and pearl barley.

Not only are preparations of each of these available but there are many combinations of vegetables, cereals and meat in a single broth, exceedingly useful for baby's digestive apparatus and for the improvement of its health and growth.

EL DON SPONSORS INTER-CLUB GROUP

A campaign to organize an inter-club council on the Santa Ana Junior college campus was sponsored today by the Associated Student executive board and El Don, jaycee weekly newspaper.

In an editorial appearing in El Don, various reasons for establishment of a council of clubs were suggested. Inter-club rivalry could be reduced to a minimum, the editorial said, any many quarrels could be settled with a permanent organization of club representatives.

Approve Suggestion

The suggestion for the council was made by Editor Gloria Kirchner and approved by the student executive board at a recent meeting. The editorial started the campaign to instigate a permanent organization.

Presidents of the club would comprise the council, it is asserted. Club presidents for the current semester who would comprise the council include Joyce Wentworth, Spinsters; Coral Oakie, Moavs; Josephine Butler, Las Meninas; Marjorie Vollmer, Piloteers; Gertrude Yount, Las Gitanas; Cyril Nichols, Bachelors; Harold Tucker, Buccaneers; Lester Bowman, Junior Lions; Howard Moore, Los Gauchos.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"Man" was the subject of the lesson-sermon on Sunday in all Churches of Christ, Scientist. This verse from Ecclesiastes constituted the golden text: "God giveth to a man that is good in his sight wisdom, and knowledge, and joy."

The lesson-sermon included these words of the Psalmist: "O LORD our Lord, how excellent is thy name in all the earth! . . . When I consider thy heavens, the work of thy fingers, the moon and the stars, which thou hast ordained; What is man, that thou art mindful of him? and the son of man, that thou visitest him? For thou hast made him a little lower than the angels, and hast crowned him with glory and honour. Thou madest him to have dominion over the works of thy hands; thou hast put all things under his feet."

Among the passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, were the statements: "When understanding changes the standpoints of life and intelligence from a material to a spiritual basis, we shall gain the reality

17,000 Voters Eligible For City Election

Approximately 17,000 registered Santa Ana voters will be eligible to vote at the April 10 municipal and board of education election, Deputy County Clerk Elmer Schaniel, in charge of registration, revealed today.

He reports a total count of registered voters in the city at 17,215, divided as follows: 8781 Democrats; 7382 Republicans, and 1044 miscellaneous party affiliates. The total represents approximately 80 per cent of Santa Ana's voting population. Generally about 35 to 40 per cent of Santa Ana's eligible voters turn out to cast a ballot at municipal elections, officials declared.

SET DATES FOR SUMMER CLASSES

Dates for Santa Ana Junior college's annual summer session were announced today by George B. Holmes, dean of the school. Classes will start June 19 and last until July 28, he said.

Information Available

Information on courses to be offered will be available soon, Dean Holmes revealed, and persons may secure it by calling at the summer sessions office, 1012 North Main street, Santa Ana.

Faculty members of the college and of the Santa Ana High school will teach regular accredited college and high school courses. A complete list of subjects will be offered students attending the sessions, Holmes said, and any others will be added if there is sufficient demand.

All of the courses are fully accredited and may be accepted by four-year institutions.

Many Inquiries Received
The Santa Ana Junior college summer sessions have attracted many students from other communities as well as in Orange county. Inquiries already have been received from Pasadena as well as from other cities, Dean Holmes indicated.

A feature of the sessions is that classes are held in the mornings, allowing afternoons free during beach weather.

ZAHARIAS AND BOESCH RENEW 'ROT' TONIGHT

The impromptu brawl of last week between Tom Zaharias and Paul Boesch will begin all over again tonight at the Orange County Athletic club when Zaharias gets his crack at Boesch, whom he has accused of trying to steal his stuff.

Boesch apparently is unconcerned over the prospect of being slammed slap-happy by the "Crying Greek," and promises to dispose of the rough Zaharias.

"Gorilla" Macias, ex-Mexican bull-fighter, returns to action in a semi-windup with "Sockeye" McDonald. Macias wasn't doing so bad for himself until an injury put him out for a bit, but he is now stronger and tougher than ever before. Macias possesses almost superhuman strength and maybe he will need it in this match with the Oregon lumberjack. This bout is scheduled for two out of three falls.

The card also will present a special event with Casey Columbo meeting Mike Strelch. Columbo is the young Italian who has proficien knowledge of the art of wrestling. Strelch, while a little more rugged in his ring work than Columbo, still knows his hammerlocks.

The opening bout pairs Killa Shikuma, popular Niponese and Hans Schultz.

SEATTLE'S ROOKIES SHELLACK BEAVERS

ANAHEIM, March 6.—Seattle's 1939 Coast league preview looked like money in the bank to Manager Jack Lelivelt today, as he looked back on the 10-3 shellacking his rookies handed the Portland Beavers yesterday in Fullerton's Ameriga park. A crowd of 1500 saw the pre-season opener.

Four clouts for the circuit, two from the booming bat of Eddie Fernandez, Rainier outfielder, salted the game away. Joe McNamane, sensational rookie catcher recruited this year from a Seattle high school league, slipped a soaring circuit smash 350 feet over high-center fence, and turned in a sparkling game for five innings behind the bat.

The HOME RUN PARADE

(By United Press)
FULLERTON — Another powerful Seattle Rainier team appeared in prospect for 1939 baseball followers said today after witnessing the Rainiers' 10-3 victory over Portland in exhibition game yesterday. Manager Jack Lelivelt used only two regulars for Seattle but the rookies had out for 13 hits while Portland was held to four hits. Eddie Fernandez belted in two homers for Seattle while Horning and McNamane had one each.

SAN BERNARDINO—Truett (Rip) Sewell, Pittsburgh pitcher, was in red today with a case of gripe, the first "casualty" of the Buc training camp. Ray Mueller, a new catcher, joining the show at yesterday's practice when he blasted a home run over the 360 foot left field fence.

PASADENA — Manager Jimmy Dykes today tagged Eric McNair, his old Philadelphia Athletics teammate, as the most likely relief man for Jack Hayes, White Sox regular second baseman. Brittle bones have kept Hayes out of competition much of the time.

AVALON — The hitting of Hank Leiber and Dick Bartlett, midwinter acquisitions from the New York Giants, bolstered the Chicago Cubs training camp today. Manager "Doc" Hartsnett ordered still more batting practice to see whether they could produce like they did in their opening workout yesterday.

EL CENTRO — Manager Cedric Durr of the San Diego Padres today cautiously admitted he "appeared" to have plenty of pitching power, judging from the performance of four rookies in a practice game yesterday in which the rookies beat the Yankinians, 6-1. Rookies Ed Smith and T. S. Walker held the regulars to four hits while George Brown and Al Olsen held the yankees to two hits.

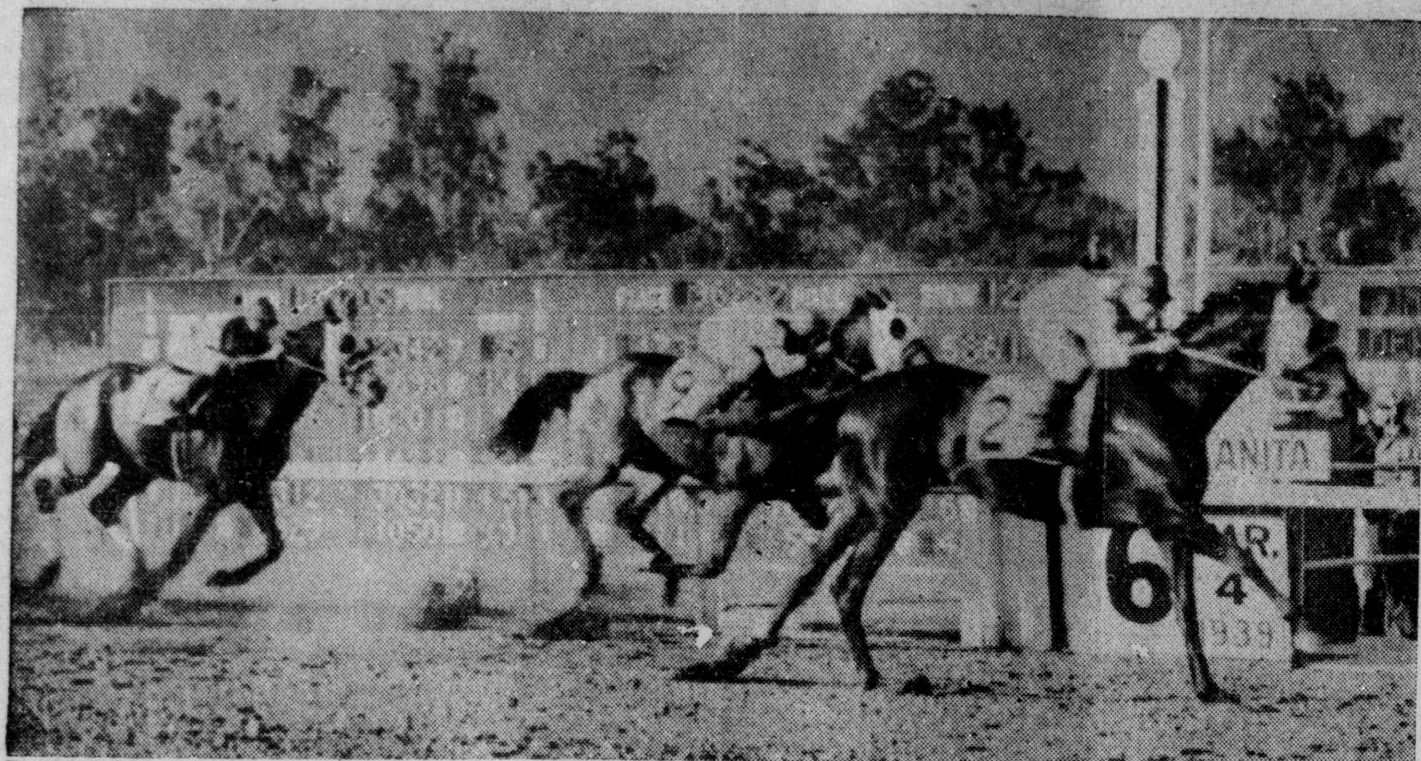

RIVERSIDE — The Sacramento Senators went through warming up exercises today in preparation for the start of the regular practice tomorrow. Manager Benny Borgmann said he will have 30 men in uniform tomorrow.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—Outfielder Joe DiMaggio was due in camp today as the New York Yankees began training camp today. The team will play its first scheduled Sunday holiday of the training season. Wally Judnich and Bill Matheson, rookie outfielders, and Tommy Henrich, who is being counted on to hold down right field, arrived yesterday.

CLEARWATER, Fla.—Van Mungo was reported near an agreement with the Brooklyn Dodgers today. The red-headed pitcher met with Judge Landis Saturday and spent Sunday in a lengthy conference with Vice-President Larry MacPhail and Manager Leo Durocher.

TAMPA, Fla.—Manager Bill McKechnie scheduled a long batting drill for the entire Cincinnati squad today. The team will play its first vet-coat practice game Wednesday. Yesterday was a holiday for the hurlers, but Ernie Lombardi made his first appearance behind the bat.

LAKELAND, Fla.—Arrival of Floyd Giebel, right handed pitcher, purchased from Evansville last week, brought to 15 the total of pitchers trying for jobs with the Detroit Tigers.

Putting on a great stretch drive to set a new track record of 2:01 2/5 for the mile and one-quarter, Charles S. Howard's Kayak II won the fifth running of the $100,000 Santa Anita Handicap. This ACME picture shows Kayak II, with jockey Johnny Adams up, winning from Whickee (9), Basil James riding, and Main Man (1) with Georgie Woolf in the saddle. Kayak II is a stablemate of the mighty Seabiscuit, who went lame while training for the big race, and did what the Biscuit failed to do in two attempts. Seabiscuit lost the handicap by a nose (to Rosemont) in 1937 and by a nose to the lightly weighted Stagehand again in 1938.

TROJAN FROSH TRIM JAYSEE

Unless Santa Ana jaysee trackmen display a reversal of form at Riverside Friday they will find themselves in a tough spot for their first Eastern conference dual meet.

Against the U. S. C. Frosh in Los Angeles Saturday morning, Coach John Ward's Dons received a 79-52 trouncing. The score wasn't disappointing but Don performances, as a whole, failed to come up to expectations. Only first places went to Joe Wolfe with a 53.1 second quarter; Bill Joseph and Lawrence Dresser, who vaulted 11.6 and Bill Morales, who threw the javelin 168 feet, 7 1/2 inches.

STAGEHAND DEFEAT SHOCKS FLA. FANS

MIAMI — (UP)—Racing moved to Tropical park today but Florida fans can't forget Hialeah, where Stagehand, odds-on favorite, was outfitted for the $50,000-added Widener Challenge Cup race Saturday.

Nobody can figure out how the Sickle-Stagecraft colt, backed with $87,625 at the prohibitive price of 1-3, finished four lengths behind Bull Lee and Sir Damion. Trainer Earl Sande's explanation was the only reasonable one. He said "Stagehand just didn't seem to have his usual stuff in the stretch. Bull Lee and Sir Damion just were better horses Saturday."

VALENCIA POLOISTS TIE LONG BEACH, 5-5

Although Long Beach had in its lineup Art Tisdale, a four-goal player from Riviera, the Valencia Polo club of Orange county played a 5-5 tie Sunday with the invaders at Marrell field, near Garden Grove. Ed Hall, Eddie Evitt, Al Lehman and Harry Marrell rode in that order for Valencia.

RACING

BY TOM GWINNE
(Register Track Correspondent)

Here he is . . . America's happening to any of the con- equine monarch for 1939 . . .

Kayak II! Sixty-five thousand wildly cheering spectators saw him sweep to victory Saturday in the fifth running of the $100,000 Santa Anita Handicap, and before the year ends, racegoers from border to border and coast to coast will hail this Argentine 4-year-old as turfdom's champion. His triumph over Whickee and Main Man definitely established him today as the winter racing king.

Bring on your War Admirals, Stagehands and Bull Leas, I'll take Kayak!

Trainer Tom Smith, whose amazing horsemanship gave the turf Seabiscuit as last year's champion, said today: "I have two ambitions for the year—the first is to get Seabiscuit over the top as the all-time leading money winner, and the second is to have Kayak win the year's title."

Good As Seabiscuit? "He's a great colt, but not quite as good as Seabiscuit at his best," Smith continued. Asked if he thought Seabiscuit would have beaten Kayak II at the weights Saturday, Smith parried, "We'd have run one-two. But I'd have been awful worried about Seabiscuit."

Thus, Charles S. Howard, San Francisco sportsman in whose red and white silks Kayak ran, found the third time to be the charm. Seabiscuit, unquestionably the best horse in the 100 grander for the last two straight years, lost by a nose, and now Kayak has broken the Howard jinx, earning $91,100 in doing it. Seabiscuit was on the shelf Saturday with an injured ankle, but he couldn't have had a greater understudy.

Claim Cunningham Beat Lash On Foul

BY LESLIE AVERY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK — (UP)—Glenn Cunningham beat Don Lash in a two-mile race untainted by the charge of "foul" before his superiority over the Indiana state policeman at that distance can be established, and a rematch this season appeared remoted today.

Glenn nosed out Don by a yard in their loudly hailed meeting in the special two-mile event arranged by the I. C. 4-A Games Saturday night, but it was a questionable victory that divided track followers into hostile groups.

Dan Ferris, secretary-treasurer of the A. A. U. and chief inspector to the ICA Games, reported to Referee Rupert Thomas that Cunningham fouled Lash at the turn going into the final lap when he came upon the outside and cut in front of Lash to gain the inside without having sufficient clearance. Lash warned him off with a straight arm, but it broke his stride and he never caught up. Referee Thomas ruled that if Cunningham had committed a foul it was not flagrant enough to warrant disqualification.

It is too bad that only Lash is entered in the two-mile race in the K. of C. Games at Madison Square Garden Saturday night, because this will be the last indoor meet of the year here. Cunningham, in addition to running the Columbian Mile, which he has won six straight times, will try for revenge in the 1000-yard event in which he will meet Johnny Borican, lanky Elbertson, son.

The teams of Jack Robertson-Dick Ewert, Sonny Holmes-Chuck Denio and A. W. Robinson-E. H. Gunther brought to Santa Ana 8 1/2 of the home club's total at Victoria. Robertson shot a 75 and Ewert a 73 to win three points. Holmes and Denio also swept their match, Holmes carding a 77 and Denio an 80. A. W. Robinson and Guthrie won 2 1/2, Robinson posting a 79 and Guthrie an 82. The other point was taken by Homer Robinson and Ben Maker, scoring 84 and 83. FAMOUS COACH SAYS FUTURE IS INDEFINITE PITTSBURGH — (UP) The resignation of Dr. John Bain (Jock) Sutherland as head football coach at the University of Pittsburgh was accepted today by Chancellor Dr. John G. Bowman.

In an exchange letter between Dr. Sutherland and the school's chancellor, it was revealed that Sutherland, generally rated the country's No. 1 football coach, has no future coaching plans.

After 15 years as head coach, Dr. Sutherland asked to be released from his contract because "the future athletic course is so indefinite and vague at Pitt."

"I know from my conversations that you have no desire to have me stay on under conditions which cause me great worry and unhappiness," Dr. Sutherland wrote.

Reveal Verbal Resignation He referred to two meetings last week, the first at which he verbally asked for acceptance of his resignation and the second meeting at which the entire athletic setup was discussed by Sutherland, Dr. Bowman and heads of the athletic department.

"I tried to meet you halfway, more than halfway," Dr. Bowman wrote referring to Thursday's meeting when details of scholarships, plans for new material and personnel were discussed for three hours.

"I feel confident that you have given full and deep thought to the whole program," Dr. Bowman's letter said. "With real regret, therefore, assuming from your spoken word and from your letter that you wish to resign, I accept your resignation from the university by this letter, effective at once, as your request."

"Let me add a personal word. I hope that you will be happy in your new work. You have my good will and my wish always that many victories be yours. For the university, too, let me say that you go with high respect, good will, and good wishes."

Another Coaching Job? Although Sutherland refused to comment on his future plans, Dr. Bowman's letter was interpreted as meaning Sutherland may have arranged for another coaching position.

Sutherland termed athletic conditions at Pitt intolerable but absolved the chancellor of any blame. He wrote: "As you know, my resignation has nothing to do with the ideals and objectives of the code for the conduct of athletics. I am in favor of good standards. However, the present system of athletic administration has resulted in conditions which, for me, are intolerable."

"I was glad of the opportunity Thursday to tell you that I do not feel that you are responsible for these conditions. I am sure that until now you have not been fully aware of the problems. I make this decision with genuine regret, because I have been associated with the university as student and as member of the faculty for 25 years."

Coach Says Plans Indefinite Dr. Sutherland said his plans for the future were indefinite. He said he never seriously considered an offer to become head coach at Mississippi State college, as had been rumored last week. Friends said there was a possibility he would retire from football although for one year. It was reported also that he might become a sports commentator for newspapers or radio.

First intimation that all was not well between Sutherland, the "silent Scott" to football fans, and the university, came in early 1937 when a long-standing feud with W. Don Harrison, the then athletic director, came into the open because of Harrison's treatment of Pitt players who went to the Rose Bowl that year.

Sutherland reportedly accused Harrison of pinching pennies in allotting spending money to the athletes. He was said to have told Harrison, "I made you, and I'll break you." He offered to resign, but instead, Harrison quit March 20, 1937.

Would De-emphasize Sports The new director, James Hagan, authored the so-called "Hagan Plan" to de-emphasize sports. It was adopted by the university on July 21, 1937, and later, a revised plan, known as "Code Bowman," was adopted Feb. 8, 1938. One provision adds: . . . The matter of publicity shall be subject to constant supervision and study in an effort to lessen undue emphasis upon athletics in general and football in particular.

Last fall sophomore athletes threatened to strike. This was settled by Dr. Sutherland but trouble again broke out in December when freshmen football players rebelled against attempts by the university to collect tuition. They claimed they had been told to work as prescribed for them by the code would pay these fees and part of their living expenses Surprising the football world, Coach Jock Sutherland, above, has submitted his resignation at the University of Pittsburgh. Sutherland brought four teams to the Rose Bowl.

SAINT - PHOENIX GAME DEFINITE

Principal Lynn Crawford today wired to Phoenix an official acceptance of a football game in the Arizona capital Friday night, Nov. 3, between Santa Ana and Phoenix high schools.

On the fire for several weeks, the intersection contest was formally signed after Pomona officials agreed, in writing, to play Santa Ana at Pomona Nov. 11 (Armistice Day) instead of Nov. 3, as originally called for by the Citrus Belt league schedule.

The Saints' 1939 grid card is now complete from Oct. 20, when the conference season begins, through Nov. 23. Crawford said nothing would be done about filling the pre-league program until new Coach Bill Cole arrives from the University of Oregon late this month. The Phoenix trip, Crawford explained had been approved by Cole when he was here recently.

Santa Ana's journey to Phoenix will be its first out-of-state game since 1916 when the Saints also met Phoenix. Coach Cole himself was a guard on the '16 team which used out the Arizonans, 9-6.

FLIP COIN TO PICK BEAR-TROJAN COURT

LOS ANGELES (UP)—A flip of a coin today will determine whether the Southern California-California basketball playoff is to be held in Los Angeles or Berkeley.

The coin-flipping will take place in the office of Trojan Athletic Director Willis Hunt. The two schools are meeting to arrange details of the playoff.

The regular Southern division basketball season ended Saturday with the Trojans and Bears tied as California defeated Stanford, 45-32, while S.C. trounced U.C.L.A. 56-27.

Hunter and Kenneth Priestly, California's graduate manager, have not decided whether the playoff will be held Friday or Saturday, although both prefer Friday.

The winner of the playoff meets Oregon, Northern division champion, in a three-game series at Eugene, Ore., starting March 16. The coast championship quintet then will rush back to San Francisco for the National Collegiate Athletic association Western finals at Treasure Island, March 20 and 21.

HUNT ON APPOINTED COACH AT GONZAGA

SPOKANE, Wash.—(UP)—John (Puggy) Hunt, Gonzaga high school football coach for 10 years, was named varsity coach today succeeding Mike Pecarovich, New Loyola university coach at Los Angeles.

As well. Officials agreed to free tuition for them. These developments, and the fact that the university was scheduling games with major opponents without providing means of attracting good material to Pitt, were believed to have prompted Dr. Sutherland's decision to resign.

HOWARD'S NEW AGE MAY RUN IN 'CAPISTRANO'

BY HENRY McLEMORE
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

LOS ANGELES.—Following Kayak II's victory in the $100,000 Santa Anita Handicap, rival racing owners must be wishing today that they had asked the government to enforce the Monroe Doctrine on Charles S. Howard and forced him to keep his hands off South America.

Because it was down below the equator in the Argentine that Howard found Kayak II and, for the trifling sum of $7500, bought the colt who gives every promise of becoming the successor to mighty Seabiscuit. When the 'Biscuit went lame, two weeks ago, it appeared as if Howard's domination of the country's big stake events was at an end. Now, with Kayak II in perfect condition and entered in many of the rich Eastern fixtures, he seems ready to continue to be the Mr. Moneybags of the track.

Enters Eastern Stakes

Kayak II's name is in the lists for the Metropolitan Handicap, the Suburban, the Dixie and the $50,000 Massachusetts Handicap. Who is going to beat him? There wasn't a horseman in this town who had the answer to that question today. They saw him come charging down the stretch at Santa Anita Saturday to turn the mile-and-a-quarter in the track record time of 2:01.2; and he was full of run at the finish. His time shaded by 1-5th of a second the mark hung up by last year's winner, Stagehand, and he was carrying 110 pounds whereas the Maxwell Howard beauty packed only 100 flat.

It was his second track mark within eight days. In his last race before the handicap he whipped through the mile and a sixteenth in 1:42.2.

Kayak II had no particular racing luck in winning the Golden Gallop. In fact, he got a little the worst of it. Breaking fast out, he never did get the rail and was forced to run wide from start to finish.

Never Out of Money

With the use of a little hindsight, one wonders why the South American 3-year-old (he is listed as a 4-year-old in this country, but only because, under racing regulations, he added six months to his age by coming to this country) wasn't even a favorite in the betting. Certainly his record made him a standout over the field, in 12 starts he has never finished out of the money, scoring 9 victories and getting place or show money on three occasions. He has proved that he can go on any kind of track be it lightning fast or sloppy with mud.

As for his background, Kayak II was foaled in Argentina in 1935. Known as Kajak in Argentine, his name was changed by Howard on arrival in this country. He was a wild and woolly son of the Pampas when he reached the U.S., never having felt a saddle on his back.

In the short time he has been racing Kayak II has earned $107,230, and right now it doesn't seem far-fetched to say that if Seabiscuit's lameness robs him of the chance of becoming the greatest money winner in American racing history, his stablemate might very well fetch that honor.

May Win Again Saturday

Three of the horses that he whipped Saturday will get another shot at him in the $25,000 San Juan Capistrano Handicap which ends the regular Santa Anita season next Saturday. The San Juan is over the mile-and-a-half route, but Kayak will be favored to whip Cravat, Gosum and Today at that distance. The South American didn't appear all in when he crossed the line in the handicap. He was running beautifully, and seemed ready to run right on to his native Pampas without tiring.

Seabiscuit, whose bad ankle is responding to treatment, will stay in the west and be pointed for the $50,000 Hollywood Gold Cup this summer. The old campaigner still is some $36,000 shy of Sun Beau's winning mark, and Howard wants him to break it.

BOOSTERS OF L. A. CHECK STORM LOSS

LOS ANGELES, March 6.—(UP)—Southern California's orange loss in the recent windstorm reached 40 per cent in some areas but averaged 25 per cent, the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce said today in its monthly agricultural survey.

The wind loss was fixed at approximately 6000 of the 23,829 carloads on the trees at the time. The report said the loss will be partly offset by higher prices.

Los Angeles county's loss was "very spotty". In some parts virtually no navels were lost though trees were damaged and the grade of the fruit reduced. Elsewhere 40 per cent of the crop was blown off.

Four thousand boxes of avocados were lost. Much of the windfall fruit was marketable.

WASHINGTON, March 6.—The insurrection Pat Harrison is starting against spending is no political venture, despite what you hear.

If business must be supported by the government, the country is headed for a crash as soon as the money runs out. It is only a question of how long the treasury can keep going.

Public men do not like to talk of the expectations aloud. It frightens people. Of late New Deal years, the doubters of the spending policy have succumbed to defeatism. They could not find any practical means of stopping spending, so they just kept quiet, crossed their fingers and braced themselves for the eventual result. Vice President Garner, for instance, has come back to the last three sessions of congress, privately preaching and demanding a sensible moderation of the spending policy to inspire unchallengeable confidence in the future of the treasury. He worked at it, but he never got far enough even to let the public know such a movement was in progress.

Spending is the popular side. Businessmen, farmers, reliefers who are getting some of the money, want all they can get. How then could a poor congressman trying to get re-elected be expected to deny himself at the gray bowl? Everybody here was getting his.

It was impossible even to start an open movement for budget balancing. The impression that the bankers would benefit from a sound treasury was nationally promoted. The fact that the treasury belonged to the people who pay taxes (and that is all the people) was obscured. The fact that the bankers have no money except that which people deposit with them for safekeeping was also unmentioned. The conclusion that if the treasury went broke (into inflation) the people would get it on the nose, in the jaw, in the neck and elsewhere—first by losing their stake in a solvent treasury, then by losing their savings in banks and insurance companies (now loaded with the federal debt), then by losing the value of everything they possess—these formerly accepted truths went unmentioned. Any public man who tried to mention them found the effect the same as if he were whispering in a hurricane.

The Harrison move is the first attempt to furnish leadership here for working out of the hole at the top instead of the bottom. It is just as sincere and grave as the unspoken fears which inspired it. No one can tell how it will come out yet in view of the general unwillingness to face the situation, or even to admit there is a situation.

The budget for the next fiscal year calls for expenditures of about $9.0 billions and receipts of $5.5 billions, making a deficit of around $3.5 billions. If Harrison succeeds in cutting the expenditures 10 per cent all along the line, the economies would amount to only $1 billion, still leaving $2.5 billions deficit. To balance, a 40 per cent cut would be necessary.

Fine phrases have been found for many un-fine things in Washington, but none more elegant or imaginative than Sen. Pepper's phrase for the treasury deficits: "Testifying for the Townsend plan before the house ways and means committee, Pepper called these 'excess spending power.'"

His voice rose by steps as he read the increasing federal budget figures for recent years until he reached the 1940-41 crescendo of praise for "excess spending power."

The three American cardinals voted for Cardinal Pacelli from the first ballot. It was generally known here that such was their intention when they departed.

The election was swiftly concluded so there would be no doubt about the unanimity of top Catholic churchmen in supporting the late Pope's stand against cruelty, arrogance and unchristian attitudes rampant in the world.

The house elevator was crowded around noontime with members discussing the news that Cardinal Pacelli had been chosen Pope. The elevator operator, a serious-minded lad, always looking for information from his customers, turned around and asked:

"What is he, Republican or Democrat?"

No one can be quite sure of anything heard from Russia, even when it comes by official grapevine. However, state department officials have unofficially heard the recalled ambassador Troyanovsky was recently seen in a corridor of the Moscow foreign office.

His dentist here is supposed to have heard from him several months ago, nothing since. No body knows.

Mr. Roosevelt wants to get rid of congress. He has found he cannot control it, has informed leaders privately he will not send up much else.

2 AWAIT DATE FOR PROBATION PLEAS

W. N. Humble and John Larkin, Corona boys held here on charges of burglary, today were awaiting a probation hearing March 17, following their plea of guilty in Judge G. K. Scovel's court. The court assigned Attorney James L. Davis to defend them.

Harry Burstall, 23, of Huntington Park and Hollywood, was sentenced by Judge Scovel to six months in jail for burglary of the J. H. Pellerin liquor store at Buena Park. John B. Paige, accused of complicity in the burglary, is scheduled to receive judgment next week.

Also Gets Term

A six months term in jail also was meted out to W. W. Moran of Vallejo, who pleaded guilty to passing a worthless check. The federal department of justice has a "hold" order on Moran.

John Andre jr., who drove an automobile after his license had been suspended, was fined $50, which he must pay at the rate of $5 per month, as a condition of two years probation.

S. Gibson Childre, Santa Ana, pleaded guilty to a check charge and will receive a probation hearing March 17.

PET TALKS

—By MRS. T. J. NEAL—

"What this question comes to me, 'What is a Belton Setter?' As far as I can find there is much confusion concerning the meaning of the term 'Belton'.

All Beltons, Laveracks and Llewellyns are not a separate breed, nor even a variety of English setter. They are simply English setters of a certain color. Any setter with a white coat background that has a large amount of ticking or spotting, is called a Belton setter.

The Humane society meets tomorrow at 3 p. m. in the Weber Bakery club rooms, North Main street. Transportation can be arranged for those who have no cars.

S. A. GIRL SCOUTS IN DRIVE TO ASSURE SUMMER CAMP TREK

A chance for every Girl Scout in the city to go to the Girl Scout camp this summer is the aim of a cookie sale campaign being conducted all this week by all girl members.

Plans for the sale were completed last Friday and today several hundred Scouts are taking orders for the cookies that will send them to camp. All cookies will be delivered on Saturday, March 18. An attractive box containing more than four dozen crisp, delicious cookies is the package being sold.

Carries Her Card

Only registered girl Scouts will be permitted to sell the cookies and each girl will carry her registration card as she solicits the order.

In order that there will be no duplication of sales efforts, a white ribbon will be attached to the door-knob of the home so no other Scout will approach the customer. There will be no soliciting in office buildings or apartment buildings unless the Scouts are accompanied by parents.

Each scout has a "cookie-chairman" that is directly responsible to Mrs. George Ames, chairman of the Scout Council committee in charge of the sale. Other members of the committee are Miss Mary Beasley, Mrs.

John Henderson, Mrs. Herbert Rankin and Mrs. Golden Weston.

Each box that the Scouts sell will give one hour in camp. 14 boxes will mean a whole day. 100 boxes a week and 200 boxes will keep a girl Scout at camp for two weeks.

This year the Santa Ana troops will camp with the San Diego county Girl Scouts at Camp Tapawanga from July 23 to August 20.

Mrs. Tessmann To Speak For Club

Mrs. John Tessmann, who represented Orange county clubwomen at the recent peace conference held in Washington, D.C., will give a report of the conference at the regular meeting of the Santa Ana Rotary club tomorrow noon at the Masonic temple.

An added entertainment feature will be the performance of James David "Jaydee" Thompson, infant prodigy discovered by The Register, who will exhibit unusual mental powers for a child of his age.

Kappa Delta Phis Have Installation and Dinner Dance

New officers of Kappa Delta Phi sorority were installed at formal rites Saturday evening in the home of Miss Nadine Pennington, 510 East Myrtle street, where members assembled in advance of a dancing party at the Wilshire Bowl in Los Angeles.

Many lovely flowers and the glow of tall tapers added to the charm of the setting arranged for the ceremony, which was conducted by the retiring president, Miss Marlene Cook. She was attired in a flame-hued chiffon gown, while her successor in office, Mrs. Meredith Crumley, was in cyclamen and blue satin.

Miss Fern Anderson, vice president, was in royal blue chiffon; Miss Mildred Pearson, secretary, in blue taffeta; Miss Florence Wesson, treasurer, in turquoise georgette; Miss Floretta Harman, monitor, turquoise taffeta; Miss Phyllis Hefke, guard, in peach chiffon over taffeta; Miss Lorraine Wheeler, mistress of ceremonies, in yellow brocade; Miss Nadine Pennington, historian, in peach net and lace.

Assisting during the evening were Mrs. Walter Stark, in fuchsia taffeta and Miss Mary Crowe, in red satin.

Members were joined by their escorts for dinner and dancing at Wilshire Bowl.

Girl Scouts Dance

Girl Scouts of Troop 14 gave an informal dancing party late last week in one of the Willard Junior High school cottages. There were 18 young people, including members and their guests, to take part in festivities.

Decorations in green and white suggested the approach of St. Patrick's day, as did the programs distributed in advance of the dance. Punch was served throughout the evening, and later on, there were additional refreshments.

Winning special prizes were Miss Caroline Spicer, Miss Barbara Neff, Bob Ball and Robert Jewell. Mrs. Charles Givens, advisor of the troop, was assisted on the chaperon committee by Mesdames Walter Spicer, Walter Waldron and Edwin McFadden.

Wedded Sixty Years

Sixty years of married life of which more than a half century has been spent right here in Santa Ana, is the record of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Quick, 1608 East Fourth street. Scores of friends called yesterday afternoon to offer felicitations to the bride and bridegroom who have exceeded the golden anniversary by a decade.

Anniversary Joys Shared Upon Memorable Occasion

In that home at 1608 East Fourth street where Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Quick have welcomed their friends for the past 22 years, and where they celebrated their golden wedding a decade ago, occurred another even happier anniversary celebration yesterday, that of the 60th wedding day.

Interest in this event was expressed by flowers, until the big home bloomed like a spring garden with blossoms in every color and form. Quite lovely were the potted camellias, an especially fine one being the gift of Mrs. Quick's only brother, George Grigsby of this city. Centering the dining table with its handsome cloth of creamy lace, was a big cut glass bowl of deep pink roses, given and arranged by Mrs. W. D. Baker. Ringing the roses were slim white tapers in silver candlesticks.

Miss Betty Jean Poplin of Ojai, a grand-niece of the celebrants, was at the door throughout the afternoon. Mrs. Quick was a gracious hostess in her frock of filmy black lace worn with a long shoulder spray of gardenias. Her bridegroom of 60 years ago, wore a gardenia in his buttonhole.

Tea Assistants
Miss Grace Grigsby, nieces of the home, acted as hostess and was assisted by other relatives and close friends. Presiding at the silver tea and coffee urns at different intervals were Mrs. Clayton Smith, Mrs. W. D. Baker, Mrs. John Estes, Mrs. Edward H. Burns, Mrs. Calvin E. Holman and Mrs. Jessie White. Aiding in serving the heart-centered ices, petits fours, candies and sugared nuts were various nieces of Miss Grigsby. Mrs. Lloyd Poplin of Ojai, Mrs. Frank Fitzek and Mrs. Leland Richey of San Diego.

Throughout the afternoon Miss Olive Schweitzer played piano numbers, including several favorites of Mr. and Mrs. Quick. She also accompanied Mrs. Edward H. Burns in such soprano solos as "The Hand of You" (Carrie Jacobs Bond) and "At Dawning" (Cadmian). Edward H. Burns played various cello numbers, "The Dream" (Bartlett), "Ave Verum" (Mozart) and many melodies especially requested by the celebrants.

Approximately a hundred and fifty friends called during the afternoon, and many of them recalled the golden wedding celebration in the same setting, and marveled at the passing of ten years had brought so little change to Mr. and Mrs. Quick. Today is their actual anniversary for it was on March 6, 1879 that they were wedded back in Cuba, Ill. The bride was Miss Martha Grigsby, wedding a prominent young Illinois farmer.

They continued to live in Illinois only a few years, for they came to California in 1878 and have made this their home ever since. Although Mr. and Mrs. Quick have no living children of their own, their home has always been made happy for youth, as it has been for their family and church friends.

From Out of Town
Of these friends, their former pastor, the Rev. George A. Warner, D. D., of Riverside, came over for the anniversary celebration, with Mrs. Warner and their daughter, Jeanne. Other out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Leland Richey and Mr. and Mrs. Fitzek and son Richard.

Prominent Orange County Family Figures In Betrothal Tea

A well known Orange county family and a prominent Pasadena family will be linked by the marriage in June of Robert D. Spurgeon, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Spurgeon of Orange and Miss Jeannette Gilman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Russell Gilman, whose wedding plans were announced Saturday in the Gilman home in Pasadena.

Two hundred and fifty guests were received from 3 to 6 o'clock. Mrs. Gilman wore flowered taffeta; Miss Gilman, pink chiffon; and Mrs. Spurgeon, dusty pink crepe—all with corsage bouquets of orchids. Joining them in the receiving line were Mrs. Ralph W. Smith and Mrs. Bertram G. Wood, aunts of the bride-elect. Betrothal cards bearing the names of Miss Gilman and Mr. Spurgeon, with the wedding date, June 17, were given to the guests by the former's sister, Miss Lorraine Gilman.

Pouring tea at intervals during the afternoon were close friends of the engaged girl, Mrs. Richard B. Sutphen, Mrs. George Freeman, Mrs. Allan Leonard Jr., Miss Kathryn Ebert, Miss Virginia Booth and Miss Eloise Jones, all of whom will be attendants at the wedding in Pasadena Westminster Presbyterian church. All but Miss Jones are former classmates at Pomona College, where the bride-elect finished her studies last year. Mr. Spurgeon, who was graduated from Pomona College the preceding year, is a member of Phi Delta fraternity. He is employed with Southern Counties Gas company in Santa Ana, and belongs to the local Twenty-Third club.

Decorations for Saturday afternoon tea were in pink and white. Members of the family who attended from this vicinity were Mesdames R. G. Spurgeon, W. H. Spurgeon Jr., Sherrill Spurgeon Rice, T. H. Eljah, S. A. Salvendy, Robert Downing, A. C. Abbott, William Dyer, C. Y. Dyer, R. S. Dyer and Loretta Kelley.

Green and White Motif Prevails at Coed Dance

Santa Ana High school coeds' tribute to early spring took the form of an annual sports dance which the Girls League gave Friday night in Andrews gymnasium, with scores of young people and their escorts participating in festivities.

There was no doubt that St. Patrick's day is close at hand, so definitely green and white were the attractive decorations. Of central interest in the ballroom was a canopy of crepe paper enclosing a white net filled with green balloons which were let down in a shower during an exciting dance. Music was provided by Clarence Williams and his Knights of Swing.

Miss Ladean Laub, president of Girls' League, was aided in carrying out plans by the Misses Jacqueline Bradford, Jean Ruth Hoffman and Caroline Wells.

Teachers asked to attend the affair were Miss Helen Kirkland, Stuart Carrier, Mr. and Mrs. J. Parley Smith (Mrs. Smith is a member of the faculty); Miss Mary Saffley, Herbert Bickel and Miss Margaret Glenn. Completing the list of patrons and patronesses were Mrs. Carrie Wells, Mrs. Munger and Messrs. and Mesdames E. W. Wall, Dean Laub, Lambert Towler, Walter Spicer, Mark Lacy, J. Louis Hoffman and R. A. Bradford.

Post-dance Supper
One of the pleasant affairs given in connection with the dance was a midnight supper party in the home of Miss Betty Lacy on Balboa Island. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Mark Lacy, had planned the affair.

Since it was a moonlight night, the patio of the pleasant home proved to be an ideal setting for the event. Supper was served from a table brightened with marigolds. Seventeen young people shared the hospitality with Miss Lacy and her parents.

In Horton Home

Dr. and Mrs. Roy S. Horton and son, Dick Horton, 315 Cypress avenue, had as a weekend guest, Mrs. Blanche Wamough of Youngstown, Ohio and her daughter, Mrs. J. W. Wolfe, with whom she is spending the winter in Glendale. Mrs. Horton and Mrs. Wamough were girlhood friends in Youngstown. Shelley Horton, eldest son of the home, who is attending Woodbury college in Los Angeles, was home for the weekend.

Another recent guests in the home was Dr. Horton's cousin, Mrs. Lillian Chandler of Concord, N. H., who is spending the winter in San Marino with her niece, Mrs. Helen Smith. The group spent part of the time here, and part of the time at the Volla Park ranch home of Dr. Horton's father, Shelley Horton.

Dessert Bridge
Yellow ranunculus blossoms brightened the home of Mrs. Clyde Cave, 2107 No. Ross street Friday afternoon for a bridge club affair at which she was hostess. Tapers in yellow and green completed the decorations during the serving of dessert.

Mrs. Cave and Mrs. William Dennis held the two high scores in cards. Mrs. Dennis also received galloping award, while guest prize went to Mrs. A. H. Jones.

Returns to School
Miss Maxine Beatty has returned to her teaching duties at the John Brown School for Girls Glendora, after a week end visit in the home of her aunt, Mrs. Harry M. Smith, 1416 North Broadway.

Betrothal News Indicates Mid-Summer Wedding Rites

To friends with whom she has gone through school as well as to those who have watched her grow from childhood to a charming young womanhood, Miss Roberta Horton on Saturday afternoon told the interesting news of her betrothal and approaching June wedding to Stuart Benson of Kingman, Ariz.

This announcement came during the course of an at home at which Mrs. J. C. Horton and her bride-elect daughter received from 3 to 5 o'clock Saturday afternoon in their beautiful home at 2360 North Park boulevard.

Mrs. C. S. Benson was here from her home in Kingman, to participate in the affair, and to meet the many friends of her son's young fiancée. She has been a guest in the Horton home since last Wednesday, and took her place in the receiving line at the announcement party, wearing a graceful gown of lime-green lace. Mrs. Horton chose for the occasion, a larkspear blue crepe with which she wore a little jaquette in rose and silver brocade. Miss Horton was quite lovely in her afternoon frock of filmy black georgette whose flower and vine design in pastel tones, was accented by the pink camelias worn at the throat line and in her hair.

Receiving Line
The three stood at the foot of the stately stairway in the entrance hall to receive the guests who were admitted by one of Miss Horton's close friends, Miss Beverly Williams of Los Angeles, in formal afternoon costume of ivory crepe. Others assisting were quite as beautifully gowned. Mrs. Hansel Coulson (Barbara Horton) was here from Fresno for the gala affair, and acted as hostess throughout the rooms. She wore a graceful frock of black crepe, its long lines emphasized by folds of gold, green and lipstick red.

Mrs. George Edgar also assisted in her granddaughter's plans, greeting guests and aiding as a hostess. She wore black chiffon with lace effect on the bodice. It was at the tea hour in the dining room that friends were given the actual news of the betrothal, when small parchment scrolls were given out. These bore the simple inscription, "Roberta and Stuart: June." Tied with ribbons in the prevailing white and gold of table decorations, they added to the charming effect.

Artistic Scene
The table was especially lovely with its cloth of delicate Italian workmanship and its silver tea and coffee services linked together by the massed white stocks and golden daffodils of the elaborate flower arrangement. In the very center a huge circle of blossoms formed a setting for a lace-clad bride and her bridegroom of exquisite proportions and design. These were loaned for the occasion by Mrs. Frederick Pinkston (Betty West) and had been used at her own wedding less than a year ago.

Presiding at the silver urns during the first period of the afternoon were Mrs. George Edgar and Mrs. Nelson Edgar, the latter wearing dusty pink lace. During the next interval Mrs. Chester Horton, in polka-dotted black taffeta, and Mrs. Francis Horton in white chiffon, took their places, and for the final hours of the afternoon, Miss Margaret Sawyer, wearing a cinnamon brown chiffon with apricot lace bands, and Mrs. George Horton in wisteria crepe girdled with velvet in deeper hue, presided.

The whole affair was given a flower setting that seemed appropriate to the romance involved. In the drawing room, great masses of peach blossoms expressed the interest of Mrs. Z. Bertrand West. Mrs. Frank C. Drumm sent the yellow roses and blue delphinium which blended so perfectly with the dining room flower theme.

Miss Horton, who followed her Santa Ana high studies with a course at University of Arizona, is an affiliate of Delta Gamma sorority. Her engagement is completing a college romance.

Close friends of Miss Darlene Brickey learned of her plans for a June wedding when they were entertained the past week in the home of her mother, Mrs. Herbert Brickey, 719 South Flower street. The engagement of Miss Brickey and J. D. Cobb had been announced some time ago to the bride-elect's fellow members of junior college Moav club.

News of the approaching marriage was disclosed during a contest. Guests were requested to reassemble jumbled letters forming the names of 15 different linen items. However, one of the phrases formed was "Darlene and J. D., June 7, 1939." Prizes in games went to Mrs. Clara Ault and Miss Marion Borchard.

Miss Brickey was showered with linen gifts. Her mother served ice cream and cake at the close of the afternoon. Daffodils, ranunculus blossoms and fern centered the dining room table. Guests included Mr. Cobb's mother, Mrs. Cobb and Mrs. Arthur

Trio of Hostesses Plan Crystal Shower For Prospective Bride

To the succession of pleasant social courtesies being shown Miss Mary Rimel in anticipation of her April wedding to Raymond Allen, has been added a luncheon and crystal shower at which Mesdames D. H. Tibbals, C. H. Lawrence and H. J. Becker entertained Friday.

Twenty guests enjoyed the party which found delightful setting in the Tibbals home, 614 South Ross street. All decorative appointments suggested the season of spring in which the romance will flower. Tables were gay with sweet peas and maidenhair fern, and at each place were favors of lace-circled gumdrop baskets filled with tiny candies in flower effect.

Guests brought their needlework and spent a happy afternoon in sewing and chatting, with the climax of the gift presentation. The packages, wrapped and tied in green and white, contained crystal to complete Miss Rimel's chosen teardrop pattern. Her mother, Mrs. A. W. Rimel, was included with the score of guests.

Layette Shower Given On Honoree's Birthday

Double significance attached to a layette shower given Friday night in honor of Mrs. J. M. Campbell, since the occasion also marked her birthday anniversary. The honoree's home, 406 South Birch street was scene of the affair, which came as a surprise to her.

Joining in giving the party were Mrs. Campbell's sister-in-law, Mrs. E. J. Kotlar of Santa Paula and Miss Louise Sartor. Mrs. Kotlar, former Santa Ana, left Saturday morning for her home after a few days' visit here.

Contests stressing the baby theme were played during the evening, with prizes going to Miss Mary Jane Sartor, Mrs. Leo Millings and Mrs. Paul Gilbert. There were many lovely layette gifts for Mrs. Campbell, who received among other nursery articles, a bassinet and a bathnet. The faintest of open-faced sandwiches and cakes frosted in pastels were served from a prettily-arranged table centered with peach blossoms and Japanese iris in the light of candles. Miss Sartor served.

Twenty-six guests took part in the affair. Among those present from out-of-town was Mrs. Lydia Collins of Union, Ore., a houseguest of the Campbells.

HOLLYWOOD, March 6.—The consistency with which Bette Davis, year after year, is nominated for the Academy's Best Performance Award has given a good many people the impression that she is Hollywood's only capable actress. Much as I admire Bette's work, that's hardly fair to the many other fine artists in our feminine brigade—some of whom are probably just as capable as Bette. The difference is not as much one of ability as of attitude. Bette happens to be the only girl who is perfectly willing to be unbecomingly beautiful if the role can be strengthened thereby. She has even fought for the privilege of throwing appearances overboard and only carried her point after sharp wrangles with her studio.

Her case is a perfect argument against Hollywood's slavish worship of beauty, the perfect example to prove that the public is intelligent enough to condone straggling hair, hollow cheeks and rumpled clothes if they are demanded by the plot. I think fans are tired of seeing movie heroines get caught in a torrential rainstorm and emerge two minutes later with tidy clothes and perfect make-ups. And where's the woman who can see a glamour girl awaken in the morning with a perfect coiffure and not snicker at the lack of realism. Bette has battled against such absurdities while other actresses have been too concerned about their looks to object. It seems to me an Academy Award and the applause that goes with it are worth the price she pays.

ODD-FORMATION: The proprietor of Hollywood's one pawn shop tells me that only one Academy Award statuette has ever

THE MIXING BOWL

By ANN MEREDITH

Run-over heels denote a don't care attitude, bad enough in itself, but in no way comparable to the bad effects of wrong posture produced by crooked heels. I did not realize how much properly adjusted heel taps could contribute to comfort in walking until a repair shop induced me to try a patented heel tap that is almost guaranteed to end all heel tap worries. Ordinary leather makes the tap, but on the outer edge is inserted a tiny pie-shaped wedge of hard rubber. This wedge of rubber equalizes weight so that the wearer treads evenly whether he is an inner or outer runner-over... and what a difference this balanced tread makes at the end of a day!

Backache, pains in leg muscles, headaches, and general irritability can often be traced directly to run-over heels. Take your favorite pair of walking shoes to a repair shop and give this new idea a try-out. You'll be as delighted with results as I am.

Diet with daily exercise will keep you trim until you decide to take your two black dresses and buy an annuity in an old ladies' home. We have a grand diet sheet with a choice of three diets available, but no sheets on exercise. Watch column for articles on exercise. In the meantime, write for the diets, enclosing, please, a stamped, return-addressed envelope.

FIRST CONGRESS—AND 76TH

About this time, 150 years ago, the First Congress of the United States was in session. (The present one is the 76th.)

The session was held in the old Treasury Building at what is now the corner of Wall and Nassau streets in New York City.

So slight was the confidence of people generally in the new government, that one of that First Congress's hardest jobs was to persuade its members that it was worth while to attend. Only 13 members of the House and eight members of the Senate took the trouble to attend the opening session.

Today, when everybody is worrying about business conditions, it is interesting to note that one of the first things to be brought before the new Congress was a petition from the New York Mechanics and Manufacturers.

It set forth the "deplorable state" of trade and manufacturing, and demanded that Congress do something about it.

LABOR FOR GERMANY

The effort to get German-American mechanics to return to Germany is interesting. It is said that Detroit, Chicago, Cleveland and other industrial centers are being combed for skilled workers. There is a special demand for automobile mechanics, machinists, engineers, electricians, bricklayers and carpenters. German agents are engaged in rounding up such workmen and arranging for their transportation to the old country.

The men engaged are said to be guaranteed jobs when they reach Germany. They must pay their own transportation, but they get low rates on German ships. The pay, however, seems small by American standards, probably averaging 40 to 50 cents an hour. That might appeal to men needing jobs, but the chief factor probably is homesickness for the old country, or in many cases sympathy for the present regime.

One of the agents employing such men says: "They get good quarters and all the privileges now enjoyed by German workers. Why should mechanics starve in America when they can get good jobs in Germany? What is wrong in that?" Nothing, perhaps, if the soliciting is above-board and the candidates are told the truth. Otherwise there soon would be a lot of disillusioned German-Americans wishing they were back in George Washington's country.

The matter is interesting to Americans in general because it suggests a labor scarcity in Germany produced by extreme concentration of manpower on preparation for an imminent war.

THE "ISM" PREACHERS

"There are persons who constantly clamor. They complain of oppression, speculation and pernicious influence of accumulated wealth. They cry out loudly against corporations and all means by which small capitalists become united in order to produce important and beneficial results. They carry on mad hostility against all established institutions. They would choke the fountain of industry and dry all streams. In a country where property is more evenly divided than anywhere else, they rend the air shouting agrarian doctrines. In a country where wages of labor are high beyond parallel, they would teach the laborer he is but an oppressed slave. What can such men want? What do they mean? They want nothing but to enjoy the fruits of another man's labor."

This statement was made about one hundred years ago in the United States Senate by one of the greatest American statesmen—Daniel Webster.

Every tradition and institution in America is periodically under attack. The man who invests the capital that keeps business running is accused of monstrous iniquities. Socialism, communism, fascism, nazism—all of these, judging by the critics of our social order, are better than democracy.

The fact that the American system has given the highest standard of living on earth is disregarded. The fact that the American workmen have luxuries, enjoyed only by the well-to-do or official class abroad, is covered up. Fortunately the American people, secure in the knowledge of their heritage, don't seem to be fooled very easily by these detractors and their assorted "isms."

HINES THE NEW DEALER
(Chicago Tribune)

Of itself, the conviction of James J. Hines, the Tammany boss, would not have merited all the attention it has received throughout the country.

Everybody old enough to know anything expects Tammany politicians to be crooked. Accordingly, the news that a Tammany man has been found guilty of corruption cannot excite much astonishment. It tells nothing about Tammany which is not already fully understood.

The Hines trial attracted wide attention to some extent because Mr. Dewey conducted it, but more especially because of Boss Hines' long and intimate association with Mr. Roosevelt and the New Deal.

The delegation from New York at the Chicago convention of 1932 was opposed to Mr. Roosevelt. Hines was for him. Mr. Roosevelt found it easy to work with Hines. Hines and Mr. Roosevelt's law partner, Basil O'Connor, played golf together while the New York delegates were vainly trying to prevent Mr. Roosevelt's nomination. Hines and Jim Farley were also congenial. They understood each other perfectly and Mr. Roosevelt understood both of them perfectly.

By 1934 Hines had become the representative of the New Deal in New York politics. The patronage was his to dispense. He was a crook at the time; everybody knew it, and nobody knew it better than did Mr. Roosevelt, but the alliance was made and it has never been broken.

Hines was indicted and came to trial for the first time before Judge Ferdinand Pecora, another of Mr. Roosevelt's favorites. If there ever had been any doubt about the kind of a man Hines

Sharing The Comforts Of Life

By R. C. Hoiles

PRODUCER OR CONSUMER PAYS TAXES?

A contributor contends that it is the producer, in every case, who pays the taxes and not the consumer. But every consumer must, of necessity, be a producer, or a thief, or a recipient of gifts from some other producer or thief. So it makes little difference if we say it is the producer or consumer who pays the tax, because if the government makes justice cheap, they are most generally the same person.

The same contributor seems to think the men who use their judgment, or the entrepreneurs, do not produce wealth and do not pay the income tax but the ordinary workers pay the income tax. He also seems to try to leave the impression with the average reader that the man who abstains from using wealth and furnishes tools to another is not a factor in producing wealth and is not the real income taxpayer; that those who do manage or furnish tools and receive a large income therefrom are not paying income taxes; that the income tax is paid by the manual workers; that they are the only producers.

If this be true, then why do not these laborers, whom the contributor seems to want to make believe produce all wealth, go ahead and produce the wealth and get it instead of using the enterpriser and capital, if they are not a factor in production?

The fact of the matter is, if the enterprisers and the man who abstains and accumulates capital had been laborers instead, then the menial workers would be able to produce only a small fraction of what they were able to produce because of the enterpriser and the capitalist.

It is true that the ordinary worker might be regarded as paying the tax because he is obliged to do without an amount much greater than the direct income taxpayer pays. This is because of the higher prices the worker has to pay for goods and the lowered demand for his labor, because of the reduced competition of capital for his labor and his dollars.

I repeat what I have said before and challenge anyone to controvert the statement:

Cost of Tax
The real cost of taxation is ascertained by adding to the taxes themselves whatever additional effort is required to produce ideas, things and services as the result of a curtailment of production resulting from the taxation itself. A tax system is only right or perfect when it produces to the minimum over a long period of years the aggregate amount of human energy required to procure things, ideas and services. Cost of any extra expenditure of human energy, resulting from retarded production—retarded when capital instead of non-productive wealth is taxed—must be added to both the direct and indirect taxes to obtain the sum total of the actual cost of the tax.

In this way, only the worker pays the tax. In fact, it might be said, it is paid by both the consumer and the producer because the income tax so greatly reduces production.

CHARACTER OF CALIFORNIA'S POPULATION

The tax laws and relief laws in California will have much to do with the character of the population in California.

Under the present income and inheritance tax laws, we are telling the people who have demonstrated their willpower and ability to earn enough and save enough to take care of themselves that if they come to California we will fine them and penalize them for so doing. We have as high a state income tax law as there is in the United States and, yet, we are thinking of telling the people of means throughout the world that if they come to live in California, they will have to pay more for living here and dying here than any place else in the United States, excepting North Dakota. But the climate of North Dakota does not attract people of means as a place of residence.

On the other hand, by our pension laws, we are telling the people who have not learned to adjust themselves so as to be useful to society, to come to California and make it their home and we will give them assistance and support. We even tell them to come to California and attend our Junior Colleges free of tuition.

And then we wonder why there are thousands and thousands of people destitute and discouraged in California.

If we have foresight and judgment enough to look at things squarely and if we want to prosper in California, it is largely a question of creating public opinion that will establish common sense in our taxing and relief laws. We have much work to do in that and are getting little help from our public educational institutions.

was, the evidence produced at that trial was more than sufficient to resolve it. Hines was proved to have been the ally of racketeers and criminals who took his fat share of the profits in exchange for his services in keeping the police and the courts from doing their sworn duty.

The case against Hines was being built up in a fashion to leave no loophole. At this juncture Hines was suddenly rescued from the conviction which plainly awaited him. Judge Pecora declared a mistrial. A question asked by Mr. Dewey on cross-examination, so the judge ruled, had hopelessly prejudiced the case. Numerous students of law have since commented upon the judge's ruling. Many insist that the question was a proper one in view of the direct examination of the witness. Many others have said that if the question was an improper one it was quite unnecessary to declare a mistrial on that account; the judge might have instructed the jury to disregard the question and have proceeded with the testimony.

Judge Pecora, Mr. Roosevelt's friend, forced the prosecution to start all over again before another tribunal, but retained jurisdiction over two of the state's principal witnesses who had pleaded guilty. They were told they would be sentenced by Judge Pecora after the Hines case was retired. The effect of that pronouncement upon their attitude can readily be imagined. In short, the circumstances surrounding the first trial were so suspicious as to be damning.

In view of all these relationships the interest shown by the whole country in the Hines trial was a natural one. The nation now realizes what kind of men have been governing it of recent years. The holier-than-thou attitude of the New Dealers has been disclosed in unmistakable fashion. There can no longer be any question about it: the New Deal is in open partnership with vice and crime. The New Deal not only countenances bribery and corruption; it indorses these practices and admits the practitioners to its inner councils.

This Month's Prospect in Europe

Fair Enough

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK, March 6.—An important public issue of the moment in New York is the question whether the impending World's Fair shall be allowed to flop for lack of lewd, lascivious, indecent and vicious exhibitions by naked women, some of whom would be called dancers, while others would just frolic about in public with nothing on. It is not certain that the fair would flop without immoral displays, but the public interest in scientific and mechanical marvels of the age, band music and ricksha rides, on the basis of soundings to date, would seem insufficient for success.

It is known, however, that the Chicago fair was a "turkey" up to the time that a local judge peered over his bench at a woman who had been summoned in to court on a charge of giving an obscene performance, remarked that some people would wish to put pants on a cow and bade her go back to her pitch and sin no more. There was an implied blessing in his verdict, and the unspoken but thoroughly understood excuse, "Chicago needs the money."

It happened that some of Chicago's most influential, if not necessarily illustrious, citizens had gambled money on the fair and, of course, wanted to get back their tax. They had gambled it before the crash, not caring then whether it ever came back or not. But the fair went on after the panic, and they had to get theirs at whatever sacrifice of public morals.

The decision of the honorable court became a license for any obscenity short of the most particular Parisian and Latin-American novelties, and the fair was saved, financially and socially, as dusty stamps stamped from all over the Mississippi valley to ogle naked women, including some pathetic old bums, without power to enchant, who found that sitting naked was easier than scrubbing floors. But if the performances were a degree less foul than certain spectacles which are to be seen in Paris and Havana they were, however, open to the general public, where the dirty exhibitions for foreign lands, even Cairo, are private, secret and nominally illegal.

It is impossible to find in Paris or Havana a show open to the general public, innocents and slummers, girls and boys of school age, without discrimination, as vile as those which were given in Chicago and Fort Worth, and if the news pictures be trustworthy, the San Francisco fair is now presenting an attraction more wicked in its leering nastiness than any public skin or meat show to be seen in any other land on earth. Other peoples conduct such vices in private only.

Contrary to general belief, New York is much less immoral and rowdy than Chicago and Fort Worth, and what is now current in San Francisco will be fought here, regardless of whose money is invested in the fair. Public morals in New York would close in less than one day anything as vicious as the famous Kansas City resort which thrives under the regime of Commendatore Tomaso Pendergast, wherein waitresses stripped, a garment at a time, as they serve their customers. And citizens of Fort Worth, who reckon to visit the New York fair, may as well know that any show as filthy as some they saw at their own fair would be kicked into the

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

(Editor's Note — Today The Washington Merry-Go-Round honors with its Brass Ring Joseph Patrick Tumulty, 60, private secretary of President Woodrow Wilson.)

WASHINGTON—The story of the last month of Woodrow Wilson is gradually being unfolded by the two people who loved him most. One is his second wife, Edith Bolling Wilson, the other his secretary, Joe Tumulty, who worshiped the very ground on which he walked.

The first story is written in Mrs. Wilson's autobiography; the second is being told only to a few intimate friends of Mr. Tumulty.

Probably the complete truth about President Wilson will not be told until the book by his personal physician, the late Admiral Cary Grayson is published. This book was written before Grayson died, and is being held by Mrs. Grayson until its publication is appropriate. It tells how Wilson first met Edith Bolling Galt, his second wife, and of her influence over him.

Mrs. Wilson's own memoir is an extremely important contribution to American history. Many of her friends wish that she either had not written it, or else had had a sagacious friend to do her ghost-writing.

For the book frankly confirms what many of Wilson's associates felt during his latter days, that he was loved, monopolized, dominated by one person, and that had it not been for that person, the fate of the League of Nations, the Versailles Treaty, the entire world, might have been different.

The late Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska, who led Wilson's fight for ratification of the peace treaty, used to tell how he came in to see Wilson during the League of Nations fight bringing the reservations proposed by Senator Lodge, which would have altered materially the effectiveness of the League and yet would have permitted its speedy adoption by the Senate.

"You haven't come to talk compromise, have you?" asked Mrs. Wilson. And in the opinion of Senators who fought for Wilson at that time, her unyielding position was chiefly responsible for street by the New York cops and enjoined thereafter by the courts.

After all, the meat show did not come by the name of "house opera" without earning it. This type of theater has been a pain and a shame to the decent element of the show business for many years, a twilight zone in which trollops and procurers operate in the guise of actors. It corresponds to the we-bos or local who's who school of journalism in which blackmailers have operated to the distress of regular newspaper people.

It has not been many years since one of the most famous musical comedy producers in New York went to prison and was ruined for presenting a private stag show in which a young woman made a brief nude appearance. Perhaps today, the town being more liberal, he would get no more than thirty days for the same offense, but this still isn't Chicago, Kansas City, Fort Worth or San Francisco. Maybe it's the un-American influence of the foreigners who just won't get assimilated.

Wilson, knowing this, just before his death sent a letter to James Kearney of The Trenton

Register Clearing House

"It is for each to utter that which he sincerely believes to be true, and add to the use of influence to all other units of influence, and let the results work themselves out."—Spencer. Contributors are urged to confine their articles to 300 words.

Fellow Citizens:

In Mr. Hoiles' column of recent date he stated "Democracy really means that the government does things with the consent of all the people." That surely refers to the acts of government in functioning, as is shown also in the context; and that is what I take exception to. Democratic government must act through majorities. If every act of our government required the consent of all the people there could be only chaos ending in dictatorship. I did not say we would have very little government. I said we would have exactly none.

In the article on "Democracy and Majority Rule" Mr. Hoiles says that "real democracy means government with the consent of the governed," which is also fallacious. Italy and Germany have government with the consent of the governed. Does Mr. Hoiles contend they have real democracy? I contend they have not.

In his definition of democracy, Mr. Hoiles omits the most essential part—that it is government by the people as well as for the people, and as a matter of course by their consent. The people not only consent to be governed, they, themselves, govern through their representatives who perform the functions of government under the Constitution. The representatives are elected, laws enacted, and many other things done through majorities, which is the only possible way in a democracy. In a totalitarian state the people need only consent. They have no other real voice in their government. And they must all consent to whatever their government sees fit to do, which seems to be the all-important point with Mr. Hoiles. Is he suggesting that our government be changed to some such pattern?

Certainly any sane person not an anarchist wants some kind of government to protect his own life, property, liberty and peace however he may object to some of its acts in doing the protecting, or however regardless he may be of the protection of the other fellow; and the more protection he wants the more government is necessary. But Mr. Hoiles says "the government is our worst enemy." What a position we are in when we must depend for protection on our worst enemy!

If Mr. Hoiles will reflect calmly, he surely must agree that our government is the best friend we have, to be honored and cherished above all else. In plan and theory it is probably as perfect as the present state of mankind will permit. If its administration is often faulty, it is because of the imperfections in the citizens. How important it is, then, that we see clearly, think logically, and perform our duties as intelligently as possible so that our government may be safeguarded and kept responsive to the will of the people.

Garden Grove, Calif.

Fellow Citizens:

In order that the general public may be well informed in regard to the statement issued by the Research Bureau of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce, I shall endeavor to give the actual statistical figures of the Mexican population of this county and especially of those who are at present on the relief roll of the state and county.

We have in Orange county, 18,000 people of the Mexican race. Out of this figure there are only 7000 citizens of Mexico, the rest are children born in this country. They are settled in twenty-two Mexican colonies in various parts of the county, and these are an important part of the 250,000 workers that are needed in California industry. Eight of these colonies are established in the poorest agricultural sections and these are the colonies that have applied for assistance. The others are located in the heart of the citrus industry, and a very small percentage of these people have asked for financial help.

Prior to 1930 we had a Mexican population of 25,000 and from that time until March 1933 under my supervision 2534 paid their own way to Mexico by train, and 1577 went of their own accord by automobile. Aside from these, the county of Orange and by the county's offer paid train tickets for 1543. In July 1933 the exodus of repatriation to Mexico was terminated. The rest of the Mexican people remain in the county so that they may preserve their interest which has merged mostly in real estate or because of consanguinity.

The State Relief Administration (State Emergency Relief Administration), was organized on or about July 1934, and since then until the summer of 1937 the Mexican alien had rendered services under the State Administration, and up until the beginning of 1938 no Mexican alien has rendered services under the Public Works Administration, as has been stated by the Research Bureau of the Chamber of Commerce.

Times regarding possible candidates for Senator from New Jersey.

"I don't think you ought to overlook Tumulty," Wilson wrote, "whose political training has been more varied than that of any other man I know and who—when he was in the New Jersey assembly—proved himself a real, reliable, and capable man. He would make some of the reactionary senators sit up and take notice of the arrival of modern times and circumstances."

At the fall of 1935 and up to the month of December 1938, 576 returned to Mexico paying their own way, while the county sent back close to 100.

Of the 7000 Mexican citizens in the county that represent 10,670 Mexican children born in the United States, 78 per cent are property owners in the 22 Mexican colonies, therefore they are tax payers.

According to the State Relief Administration's records ending to January 13, 1939, there are 4300 cases in total, and from this figure there are 500 Mexican cases, and of this 500 cases there is a total of 786 citizens of Mexico. The total State dependants in S.R.A. and W.P.A. is 18,000, and from this figure there are only 2150 of the Mexican race.

The budget as established by the State Relief Administration per capita to Mexican people is $9.24 per month, as the majority of them own their property and have no rent to pay in comparison to others. In as much as the total Mexican dependants from the state are only increased in number during December, January, February and March, the actual state load for four months is $29,050.56. During the remaining eight months of the summer the state load from the Mexican race as a whole is about 1 per cent of the total permanent cases.

From the latest figures available from the County Welfare Department, taken from July 1, 1938 to November 1938, there were 378 Mexican aliens on relief of the county, at this time there were a total of 3825 cases on the Welfare rolls.

Assuming that these Mexican citizens are maintained for a period of four months at the rate of $12.00 per capita per month, the total load would be in cash value to $18,144.00 from the Welfare department.

I may say also that of these 7000 Mexican citizens, about 50 per cent are legal residents, and the rest were brought here by labor contractors taking advantage of the Mexican revolution of 1917, and up until 1919 the exodus of immigrants by contractors was diminished. It should be further stated that California agriculturalists with those of other southwestern states protested vigorously when Congress proposed to limit immigration from Mexico by extending the quota to the county in order that a surplus of labor might at all times be available. Then having invited them here and wages being insufficient to support them, someone is bitterly complaining that taxes are paid to support them. Is it not our method of subsidizing the ranchers of California in an indirect way?

L. LUCIO.

Fellow Citizens:

It seems to me that the American high standard of living was a result of free enterprise and the competitive system. Our standard of living was improved because some individuals had different ideas from those custom had established. These individuals believed they could give a little more and demand a little less than had been given heretofore. They believed in efficiency and the check of efficiency was the public patronage. They recognized that every time someone reduced the cost of a service the buyer was greatly benefited. They also recognized that there were different kinds of services. Some were worth more, some were worth less. It is very seldom any two services are identical.

The price of hair cuts is the case in point. A uniform price of 50 cents had been established by most of the barbers. Some of the barbers recognized that the higher the price—like anything else—the less business there was. As an illustration, if the price of hair cuts were $1.50, people would have their hair cut fewer times and even have it cut at home. When an unskilled working man has to work two hours to get a hair cut that can be cut in 20 or 30 minutes, he resents this artificial price and either has it cut at home or goes to some place where he can trade his time on a more equitable basis.

On the other hand, the lower the price, the more jobs and the more business there will be for barbers and the law of supply and demand is the best guide yet known as to where a man can sell his services to the best advantage. If the barbers, or any other group of men, get artificial prices, they cause unemployment.

It is certainly to the interest of customers to recognize the wisdom of the competitive system and to support the man who makes it possible for the customers to have competition in prices, as well as in quality of work. Competition is truly the life of trade. It is because we have too little competition and too much fixed prices that we have the worst depression in our history. Let's have a free price market and then there will be work for all.

SERIAL STORY

WOMEN WANT BEAUTY!

BY LOUISE HOLMES
COPYRIGHT, 1939, NEA SERVICE, INC.

Yesterday, Jeff comes to visit Susie when she is in the room how she feels a particular comfort in him. She forgets Dick.

CHAPTER XXV

"How long since you had your last square meal?" Jeff asked at last.

"About three months ago," she laughed.

"Been doing right by yourself lately?"

She shook her head. Her hair, not pinned into place, fluffed in a cloud around her head. In the lamp light it was pure gold.

"You look like a picked chicken to me," Jeff remarked, wanting to tell her how lovely she was in her green gown against the flowered slip cover. Things like that didn't come easy to Jeff. "A lamb chop or two would set you up."

Going to the telephone he ordered dinner for them both, to be served in Susie's room. "Lamb chops grilled over charcoal, baked potatoes, a green salad bowl, jasmine tea." Then raising his eyebrows at Susie, waiting for her nod, he added, "bitterscotch pie," and Susie's mouth watered.

The waiter pulled a small table before the windows and spread it with a snowy cloth. Jeff seated Susie in a deep chair and placed a cushion behind her back. She could never remember being so contented and happy. Hours with Dick were emotional trials, leaving her empty and dissatisfied. With Jeff it was different. The answer being, of course, that she did not love Jeff.

Under Jeff's merciless eyes Susie ate her dinner, even burying a pat of butter in the flaky depths of her baked potato, something she hadn't done in months. She compromised by eating half her portion of pie and Jeff finished it. The old spirit of comradeship came back.

When the table had been removed and they were cozily talking again Jeff told her, with boyish shyness, how desperately lonely he was since Edna went away, how the walls of the flat pressed in on him, how the silence smothered him.

"And she isn't coming back," he ended wistfully. "That's the worst thing about it. I know what it means to be jealous because I'm jealous of the Chief. You see Edna's the only woman I ever loved."

Susie, wanting to comfort him, searching for the right words, was interrupted by the whirr of the telephone bell.

She walked to the bed, graceful in her slinky gown, the cloud of hair giving her a childish look. Jeff watched her through a haze of cigaret smoke.

"Yes?" she said on a sweetly rising inflection. Almost instantly her pale cheeks were dyed with rose, eagerness edged her voice.

"I'm perfect again," she said. "It takes more than a cold to get little Suzanne down." She laughed exultantly at the reply over the wire.

She went on. "Only Jeff. He dropped in and we had dinner. When did you get back?" dismissing "only Jeff" with a verbal wave of the hand.

Followed an interval of rapid little utterances, questions and answers, soft laughter, intimate unfinished sentences, assenting murmurs.

Finally she said, "I may get to see your California in the spring, Dick. I've had an offer to sing with Ted Warfield's orchestra."

From where he sat Jeff could hear a jubilant shout. It was Dick. Walking to the window he stared unseeing at the cars, like shiny beetles with brilliant eyes, skimming back and forth on the drive. Susie hadn't told him of the offer—it meant she would go away.

He heard her say, "I'd love to go, Dick. I can think of nothing I'd rather do. Will I see you in the meantime?" Obviously his answer was more than satisfactory. She turned from the telephone with scarlet cheeks and star-filled eyes.

"That was Dick," she announced in the time-worn custom, dropping breathlessly to her chair.

"So I gathered," answered Jeff, dryly.

"The most wonderful thing, Jeff—it's like a novel. Dick asked me to drive with him to Rivertown for a rush dance at his fraternity house. Drive up Tuesday and back Wednesday in time for my broadcast."

She was more thrilled than the invitation warranted.

"What's so exciting about that?" "It's simply dramatic, that's all. Dick took me to a rush party in his freshman year. He was a pledge then and he has no idea that I am the same girl. Doesn't the set-up have fascinating angles?"

Again Jeff spoke dryly. "I might almost say romantic."

"That's what I mean." Susie threw back her head, looking past Jeff with dream-weighted eyes.

The cozy companionship was gone. After a while Jeff took his departure. Standing at the door he said, "That's swell about the California offer. Why didn't you tell me about it?"

"Oh, there's been half a dozen offers. I'm interested in this one because—well, just because—" She flushed and laughed consciously.

"I see," Jeff went away and Susie hardly noticed his going. Putting his car in the garage Jeff took a long walk before returning to the desolate apartment.

UPON waking in the morning Susie's spirits went into reverse. The radiant aspect of things had changed overnight. Go to Rivertown and dig up her past for Dick's enlightenment? Without a doubt it was the worst possible move she could make.

She sat up in bed, propping her chin on both fists. Just about the most effective way to rob Suzanne of glamor was to place her in Susie's old niche. Well, she'd have to find an excuse for declining Dick's invitation. This solution was not at all to her liking. The trip was attractive from so many angles.

First, it meant two days with Dick, the long drive and return in his car. Second, it would be in the manner of a triumphant return, it held all the elements of the local-girl-makes-good complex. Lastly, attending the Delta Phi party as a conqueror would, after five years, obliterate the sting of ignominy left from her last entrance into fraternal society.

What to do—what to do—If she told Dick in a casual, off-hand way, if she said, "Do you remember Susie in the waffle shop? Well—I'm Susie," or "You didn't think, when I used to serve you waffles, that some day I'd lose 30 pounds and learn to do my hair, did you?" or something like that, robbing the incident of importance, making Dick see it as the wonderful adventure it had been. She wondered what would happen.

After all, Susie thought, there was nothing to be ashamed of in making the most of one's self.

All day her mind hurried back and forth over the problem. She comprehended that any small thing might tip the scales and she trembled at the enormity of the stakes. Her chance of happiness might lie in the next few hours. In her heart she knew the trip to Rivertown was the deciding factor. It came down to this. Hours of close companionship with Dick which, she felt sure, would break down his reserve, against the possibility of shattering his interest by recollections of the past, recollections of tongue-tied stupidity and unlovely appearance.

At last, when she was dressing to dine with Dick after which he would take her to the broadcast station, she decided upon a course.

Our Children

By Angela Pratt

Dear Boys and Girls:

You are about to graduate from your beloved fairy tales to the more actual world of everyday. Rather sadly you leave Cinderella and Jack, the Giant Killer, behind you and peer into the veiled face of the future, wishing you might see that face, longing to hear a voice speaking plainly, eager to know what it is she holds for you in her closed hand. You feel rather helpless and perhaps a little scared.

Don't. You don't have to. You are not alone, and you are not helpless. The same spirit that helped you through your childhood is still strong within you. The old ideal expressed in fairy tales still sustains you. Truth is with you now, and for endless to-morrows. It is the truth in the fairy tales that held you to them, and which now goes with you into the future. Your adventure is a search for truth in your day, and no man knows what form it will take, but we are all sure that it will spell beauty and success and happiness for you when you find it.

You see it was not the grand dress, the glass slipper, the golden coach that brought the Prince to Cinderella. The step-sister had grander clothes and finer jewels, that would last after midnight. But Cinderella had something they could not have, could not take from her; something that no money could buy, but which could, and did, outweigh it. She had beauty of soul earned the hard way: service to others, duty well performed, an ideal realized in daily routine. That was the priceless treasure that conquered all difficulties, brushed aside all meanness, and brought success.

Jack was a little boy when his father died, and Jack took his place at his mother's side. For her sake he could dare all things, suffer all things, and that devotion gave him the strength and the courage to climb a wobbly beanstalk to the sky where the awful giant lived. That spirit of devotion to his ideal worked the miracle that brought down the giant and buried him in the pit. Deeper than his own life, stronger than his fear, Jack's ideal carried him beyond his mortal powers and made a very giant of him. And that, my children, is the truth.

History has many a tale to tell of the working of the miracle. It was not the tiny pebble in David's sling that fell Goliath. It was the power of the boy's spirit, the flame of his idealism that inspired his soul, gave strength to his arm, and accuracy to his aim. He was on fire with an ideal of service, and again the miracle worked, as ed it momentarily turning for me, but which responded to a railing whip, regained composure—and then Kayak charged on the extreme outside, devouring ground with powerful strides, cutting Whickee's lead with every jump, nailing him in the last sixteenth, slowly drawing past him, winning by a length and a half—going away!

Specs tires, running the greatest race of his career, finished a length in front of Main Man, and Specs, tiring badly in the last sixteenth, managed to hang on the fourth place. Then came today, Jacola, Cravat, Gosum, War Minstrel, Quick Devil, Heffly, Frexo, Congressman, Thanksgiving, Sortado and Melodist.

Excuses? There weren't any. Cravat, the second favorite, and unfortunately my first choice, simply didn't run fast enough. Nor did the rest of them.

Kayak cost $7600. He won't be a 4-year-old, according to Argentine reckoning, until Aug. 28. The largest crowd which ever saw a horse race in America, installed him a 3 to 1 favorite.

He is a nominee for the San Juan Capistrano Handicap Saturday, but I don't think he'll start. His future plans are indeterminate, but Southern California will have him at Hollywood Park. He's the champion, and the champion is entitled to a rest.

ed it momentarily turning for me, but which responded to a railing whip, regained composure—and then Kayak charged on the extreme outside, devouring ground with powerful strides, cutting Whickee's lead with every jump, nailing him in the last sixteenth, slowly drawing past him, winning by a length and a half—going away!

Specs tires, running the greatest race of his career, finished a length in front of Main Man, and Specs, tiring badly in the last sixteenth, managed to hang on the fourth place. Then came today, Jacola, Cravat, Gosum, War Minstrel, Quick Devil, Heffly, Frexo, Congressman, Thanksgiving, Sortado and Melodist.

Excuses? There weren't any. Cravat, the second favorite, and unfortunately my first choice, simply didn't run fast enough. Nor did the rest of them.

Kayak cost $7600. He won't be a 4-year-old, according to Argentine reckoning, until Aug. 28. The largest crowd which ever saw a horse race in America, installed him a 3 to 1 favorite.

He is a nominee for the San Juan Capistrano Handicap Saturday, but I don't think he'll start. His future plans are indeterminate, but Southern California will have him at Hollywood Park. He's the champion, and the champion is entitled to a rest.
